Mark, Just ignore them.

They only tease you because of the stupid things you say when you follow up. Just ignore them and they'll give up.

Stop giving them reasons to tease you. It only makes you look more stupid.

Take a break from the radio groups for a while, Maybe work on your moon bounce some more.

Oh, how nice. We now have YET ANOTHER FUCKTARD who spams the same tedious rubbish OVER AND OVER AGAIN.

Are there any sane people in RRAP who make posts that don't involve cutting and pasting the same spew repeatedly, or should I adjust the Golden Killfile nomination to include the whole newsgroup?

Oh, so you're _trying_ to earn the Golden Killfile award, are you? Well, then carry on. I wouldn't want to deprive you of the "honour" of being named the most boring k00k of August 2006. If net.suicide is what you're after, don't let me stop you. I hope you don't mind if we(tinw) use your radio groups to drive the trolls in rmcr bugfuck -- not that you minding would stop us(tinu), but still.

What, you mean they're such wusses they'd stop posting to usenet and get lives, if we(tinw) nominate them for, then vote them winners of, the Busted Urinal? I guess they'll jointly win "Coward of the Month", the following month, then.

Nah, not really -- Woger would qualify, mind you. Wiseman's still hanging out in RRCB, after all these years, continuing his career as one of usenet's all-time lamest trolls. I mean, he still thinks fag-lames work.

I shall pre-second this nomination morph. Hard to believe this one

Don't know if I 100% agree with your code speeds but I do thing the NO Code should be for 1 year and none renewable.
I had to take my license in front of the FCC and not so VE who may or may not help you out to get a license.
As I am a big VHFer I don't know how these NO Code guys are going to understand beacons. They are all code and most at 10 ~ 20 wpm. I guess the next thing will be, they will want all beacons either digital or voice. YUK!
Not up in the GHZ range yet but maybe some day.

Are you prepared to address the SUBJECT, Len? The subject is: "If you had to use CW to save someone's life, would that person die?"

Go for it.

Rog is acting even less stable than is his norm. Two days ago he believed that I was Stagger Lee. Yesterday he thought Lloyd Davies was Stagger Lee. Today he seems convinced that I am Stagger Lee.

He's even inventing new words like "henpeckhim". He has a fixation on prostitution and animal sex. The UnWiseman may be headed back to the funny farm.

Rog is acting even less stable than is his norm. Two days ago he believed that I was Stagger Lee. Yesterday he thought Lloyd Davies was Stagger Lee. Today he seems convinced that I am Stagger Lee.

He's even inventing new words like "henpeckhim". He has a fixation on prostitution and animal sex. The UnWiseman may be headed back to the funny farm.

Wog has a few "issues" that the rest of us are, fortunately, not burdened with. For us to walk in his shoes would require that we be in the working, mentally dysfunctional world in which he exists.

Roger is clearly delusional. His cranial activity seems to be disrupted by random electrical synapses that occur whenever he touches a keyboard.

In short, his brain misfires more often than not.

Two days ago you were Stagger Lee. Yesterday Lloyd was Stagger Lee. Then along comes the 'real' Stagger Lee who posits real and to the point mathematical equations and Roger, unable to understand same, accuses Stagger of plagiarism.

It never occurred to Roger that just maybe Stagger Lee knows of which he speaks, since Roger has not the education to understand and is, himself, a renowned plagiarist.

It is a hoot to see Stagger Lee get the best of Roger at every turn. Stagger Lee is clearly Roger's mental superior.

Perhaps you are confused about how all this works. When _you_ x-poast into /our/ froup, without invitation, you don't get to invite us out. Rather, if you quietly stop x-poasting to our group or replying to any threads, any threads at all, we eventually lose interest. Maybe. However, you, Cletis, are currently the sole candidate for Busted Urinal, this month, though that nomination may in turn wind up being morphed to include the entire group, just like the GK nom (because rrcb is sure stinking up usenet). However, the involvement of other rec.radio.* groups does present a bit of a conundrum there, so we may need to investigate more deeply and continue the x-poasting for the rest of the year, quite possibly.

Oh, and before you ask, no, we're not teenagers. Some of us are retired, others work, and still others are homemakers (not that that isn't work), and we are all interested in the phenomenon of the net.k0ok, of people who go online and poast crazy, off-the-wall shit just like yours.

Oh, I see you haven't been properly introduced. Salter, meet Woger Wiseman, pedophile and troll in the rec.radio.* groups. Woger, STFU, then ESAD, you pathetic broken urinal.

Surely you refer not to Wiseman.

That's okay, it was more for anyone else who might be paying attention.
Scum such as yourself get no such consideration, otherwise. BTW, it has nothing to do with Star Trek or the fandom of same. Personally, I loathe Star Trek, speaking as one who has given it a chance.

> If the asshole who claims to be Ward Hardman is not Ward Hardman and > there is a real Ward Hardman then it's the fake WH who has caused

It was a hypothetical explaining why non-clueless types and non-k00ks don't post personal info, especially not in subject lines, alleged to be of other posters. As a willing participant in such shenanigans, you are considered to be a k00k yourself. A k00k and more.

> All I ever did is remind people of his past posts on google groups.

Uh-huh. And re-post personal info in subject lines. Since you know how to fuck around with subject lines (as you have repeatedly demonstrated), you don't get a free pass to Non-Kooksville, where people are free to vote (and nominate, and second nominations) in the monthly AUK Kook Awards. Until we(tinw) ascertain whether the rest of rmcr was okay with associating with Outer Filth, they don't get one, either.

> But I'm pretty sure WH is really WH, and why should I give a fuck about > your fantasising? Go suck your Dad's asshole.

You _should_ give a fuck, because if you and your pal had played this differently, you might have been the ones nominating Ward for KotM. Then we(tinw) would be focusing on /him/, not you, Filth. We(tinw) could right now be dissecting his limericks and analysing them for k00ky content. Instead, you and Crackhead are the focus. You and Crackhead are the k00ks. Note, I am not merely using a pejorative here. That word has a real meaning, and we(tinw) can't just apply it to anyone, not accurately or truthfully.

> Stop confusing me with the other guy that does post his fucking address, > you stupid dribbling cunthole.

No. You are quite willing to reply to him and reproduce the entire subject line, with every bit of personal info intact -- repeatedly. That makes you precisely as bad as him.

> Go back to your gay kooks ng and stop fucking around crossposting to > rmcr

Noooo, no, I think we're going to become very familiar with each other, you and I. You are a lowlife scumbag and Outer Filth. There is nothing lower than you. You are an enabler to stalkers (and worse), a coward, and until we(tinw) hace decided as to the culpability of your fellow group subscribers (whether they are also such enablers, such Outer Filth-by-proxy), the x-poasting will continue. It doesn't matter how offensive Ward may have been. You are far worse. I have no words to describe just what kind of subhuman you are -- "troll", "troglodyte", "orc", "goblin", and similar terms seem like compliments, compared to you.

> and alaska etc etc

Oh, they're in it to provide an audience, and peanuts, if they so desire. Or rotten tomatoes, brickbats, hand grenades...Also, lessons in why Being Outer Filth Is A Bad, Bad Thing, for the clueless, especially the n00bs. They don't get to object, of course, since they harbour k00ks as well.

Man, you piss me off.

Well, as unintentional comedy, anyway. Seeing Woger continue a campaign of harassment that went "real-life" years ago is hilarious...You just know he's gonna cross the line, sooner or later, and get himself arrested.

Here we were having a nice conversation about skin care and you have to post and bring the thread down in the gutter by using disgusting words like "pedophile" and "urinal". If I wanted to read such filfth, I'd buy one of those nasty pronography publications. Unless your comment is about hygiene, namely of the facial sort, I'm asking you to please stay

3095. Why Roger the UnWiseman needs to hide

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2006-08-19 14:32:43 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <fiFFg.5808$Sn3.1824@newsread3.news.pas.earthlink.net>

Roger Wiseman used to post as himself. He used e-mail addresses with his callsign as a part of them under both KC8JBO and AB8MQ. Several years ago he began posting through anonymous remailers and more recently through Google. He insists that he is not Roger Wiseman and refers to himself in the third person. Why do you suppose that is? The answer can be found in West Virginia's cyberstalking law, enacted in 2002:

ï¿½61-3C-14a. Obscene, anonymous, harassing and threatening communications by computer; penalty.

(a) It is unlawful for any person, with the intent to harass or abuse another person, to use a computer to:
(1) Make contact with another without disclosing his or her identity with the intent to harass or abuse;
(2) Make contact with a person after being requested by the person to desist from contacting them;
(3) Threaten to commit a crime against any person or property; or
(4) Cause obscene material to be delivered or transmitted to a specific person after being requested to desist from sending such material.
For purposes of this section, "obscene material" means material that:
(A) An average person, applying contemporary adult community standards, would find, taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest, is intended to appeal to the prurient interest, or is pandered to a prurient interest;
(B) An average person, applying contemporary adult community standards, would find, depicts or describes, in a patently offensive way, sexually explicit conduct consisting of an ultimate sexual act, normal or perverted, actual or simulated, an excretory function, masturbation, lewd exhibition of the genitals, or sadomasochistic sexual abuse; and
(C) A reasonable person would find, taken as a whole, lacks literary, artistic, political or scientific value.
(b) It is unlawful for any person to knowingly permit a computer under his or her control to be used for any purpose prohibited by this section.
(c) Any offense committed under this section may be determined to have occurred at the place at which the contact originated or the place at which the contact was received or intended to be received.
(d) Any person who violates a provision of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or confined in a county or regional jail not more than six months, or both. For a second or subsequent offense, the person is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars or confined in a county or regional jail for not more than one year, or both.

How many counts do you suppose Roger faces?

Negative VSWR was employed in an April issue of _QST_ years ago.

"Belmont Tech" has kind of run its course.
Nevertheless, I do like reading of old exploits involving cilmbing in and out of women's dorm windows at Notre Dame de Namur (which is in Belmont) while Sister Theresa nodded off in her chair in the lobby. Her fiercely wielded yardstick had sent many a male climber tumbling into the ivy below when he got his knuckles rapped on a window ledge.

Hello Brian,

This "dispute manufacturing" technique probably predates Robeson by centuries... :-)

Anyway, it is an old, old technique of computer-modem comms and was seen on ARPANET back before the first BBSs existed.

It's a way of bluff by the "manufacturer" to get around actually replying to some challenge made by others. That's usually accompanied by the manufacturer's veiled or outright personal insults levelled against the challenger. Robeson uses the latter more than the former.

"Slow," I've been involved in radio for 53 years. Most of that time as a professional. As a part of that, I once "worked" a station ON the moon. No bounce needed. Quarter million mile DX.
Can you top that as an amateur? :-)

Nono, I'm merely describing Woger Wiseman in the most accurate manner

Good for you, Richie! You figured out all the nyms I've been using extensively since last year. Well, more or less. Anyway, take comfort in the hope that you were smarter than at least one other person on usenet (noted k00k and Outer Filth Dean Humphries, who thought I was Leola). Now, fuck off, spamming, scamming, net.KKKopping fjuckhead.

Isn't life a BITCH? Plus, the alleged multi-nym Google troll insists that he is, in fact, two different persons, and you sound like you might be another nym of the same k00k-torll, using better vocabulary. We(tinw) must investigate further, to see if the entire group is in favour of outing personal info, has "looked the other way" and given tacit passive support, or what.

Wow...you will be REALLY popular with VEs...FCC too...

Why? Was it kidnapped? Lost along with Apollo 11 data?

BRING BACK SPARK! The very first RF transmitter in amateur radio! Preserve the past! Honor "sparky" tradition!

Hey, "Slow," here's a better idea: Let's get you to a cryogenic chamber and FREEZE you and your longing for times of your youth. You want everything FROZEN, don't you? Cool? Cool...

Noooooo. I worked a STATION on the moon, namely one of the ALSEP (Apollo Lunar Surface Experiment Package). Sent a command to the SWS (Solar Wind Spectrometer) part, got the response back on earth. Two-way. The ALSEPs are now silent, nobody can work them. :-)

I don't get what was supposed to be funny. She had an unusual many bladed knife on her head that caused her to scrape some hair off her head. Unless she wanted to look like Sinead Oconnor, I call that a knife wound. Is the special knife called a flonk? You've confused me.

Also thought you would like knowing that my Prayers are with her in Markie just stopped by to empty my trashcan and revealed important breaking news. He is RETIRING in the end of April 2007. He deserves a rest, and he did wonderful work. We were very lucky to know him and his great work.

Oh, would that he'd retire well before then. He is currently semi-retired anyway, in that he claims he cannot partake in gainful employment due to some physical malady. His mental malady is on open display, however.
The poor guy suffers from extreme myopia in that he cannot (refuses) see that he has contributed just as much, if not more, to the demise of this newsgroup as has Wiseman.
Were it not for delusions, Markie would have no mental processes whatsoever.
The interior of his head is just one big, vapid happy bean bag.

Looks like you're calling "peewee_lloyd_davies" a "fat faggot", and I

HE seems confused? I should think we all are. I had no idea that Mark

Good going, Major Hoople.

I got in on this last one quite late, but it is rather intriguing. I've looked at the three hard copy dictionaries on my shelves and have not yet been able to find the word, "maniolator". Even a Google search turned up nothing.
Should I have looked elsewhere? A Spanish dictionary? Greek? Italian?
Ghetto?
Obviously I am missing something here, but what?

Your whole flamewar has been about his sexuality, thanks to your resident homophobes. Mark is merely trying to point out that said 'phobes are the ones who've destroyed your group, RRAP. As for me, I'm helping the AUK Friendly Neighbourhood Vote Wrangler and PJR, the one who nominated Mark for the GK, establish whether that nom should be expanded to include an entire group or not. Since both RRAP and RRCB seem to be involved, this may be a more difficult conundrum than previously believed -- Woger's contributions, of course, haven't helped make it easier.

Nice trick with the word "homophile", there. That word went out of vogue decades ago, yet here you are, acting like it's the '50s. Gee, is there any chance you might be a conservative? You're only trying to turn back the clock...Hmmm, you wouldn't happen to have any little secrets

Quite true, Brian. Those of us who were here 1 to 2 years ago had an eyefull of his continuous - but faulty - efforts to "tell" us all about His fantasy of things. :-)

Mainly it was his abject refusal to back down when faced with definitive directives by the government (DoD) in regard to the Military Affiliate Radio System. Weeks went by without his admitting that the Directive existed. His final communication on the subject would NOT openly admit to error but was laced with more personal insults on his challengers. Sad.

geez , get him to a specialist.

this is getting weirder and weirder and weirder.

my friend had a seizure when she first got pregnant and it was because when you get pregnant, the blood volume increases and she had this stupid little birthmark on the inside of her skull, just a little strawberry birthmark, and when the blood increased, it caused a seizure.

tho they never would have figured that out if she didn't go to a really good neurology lab

finally had it excised and got the whole thing under control.

seizures don't just happen for no cause.

it could be toxin, neurology, anything....

my empire is confusing.

it's a hard job that i can't learn overnight.,

i guess i am making adjustments but am impatient at the learning curve.

tell me about the changed regimen

you are both gods are among mortals, what with the apotheosis thing youse guys do

Mark, caution on Heil and his - usual - attempt at misdirection by manufacturing a dispute over personalities. Heil does this repeatedly as a means of attempting to discredit and humiliate his "opponents."

This whole 500+ message thread was started by the usual imaginative pipe-dream of morse code "saving lives" (as opposed to any other mode) thereby "justifying" its existance as an AMATEUR radio license test.

In the USA the amateur radio service is NOT specifically or mainly involved in "life-saving" activities. The Public Safety sub-parts of the PLMRS (Private Land Mobile Radio Service) (non-amateur) define that. A look into Part 1 of Title 47 C.F.R. will show that - for the safety of life - ANY mode of communication on ANY part of the EM spectrum by ANYONE can be used for the purposes of safety of life.

The "argument" over hypothetical scenarios formulated by someone biasing their "proposed" condition is a pointless exercise. No one can foresee the future clearly or definitively.

The morse code test was originally instituted in amateur radio licensing testing after such testing was begun by the first federal radio regulating agency in the USA. It was there because that agency felt it was necessary for their radio-regulating purposes (it was, essentially, the ONLY mode for amateurs at the time). Morse code testing has remained in the USA regulations concerning below-30-MHz amateur radio privileges ever since the FCC was created in 1934...principally at the lobbying of the ARRL to pacify their old-time membership.

Well before the WRC-03 beginning, the IARU had already taken a position that morse code testing was NOT essential to obtaining an amateur radio license. The ARRL refused to go along with that position (it was the ARRL against the world). The ARRL still refuses to take sides long after WRC-03 was finished, saying (obliquely) that amateurs must obey regulations [in the USA]; good words but they don't take any side in the code test v. no code test issue.

That morse code skill is NOT considered essential to safety of life should be evident on some international regulations (both via WRC and with individual nations' radio regulations): Those radio services designated as Public Safety (as in medical as well as police and fire services) do NOT require testing for morsemanship. The new (relatively, since 1999) GMDSS (designed-specified by international maritime SOLAS community) requires NO morsemanship skills or demonstration of same to call for help at sea. The old 500 KHz international distress and safety frequency (and morsemanship needs to use it) were eliminated. The United States Coast Guard announced (some years ago) that it had stopped monitoring 500 KHz. International airspace communications is carried out on HF using voice modes (agreement by ICAO, a UN body like the ITU).

The long-time pro-coders' arguments to preserve code testing in last year's FCC NPRM Comment period had only these essential arguments to preserve it: Ability to communicate with the least transmitter power; some kind of 'unbreakable' system to thwart terrorists; some fancied that amateur (CW) communications would be the 'only' possible means available during emergencies. All of those are invalid and were shown as such by Replies to Comments. All that was left was the EMOTIONALISM of the long-timers having to take the test, their rising to the 'top' of the amateur ranking by means of that demonstrated ability, and a refusal to change from their self-righteous views on amateur radio. Some long-timers achieved rank-position-title-privileges under old rules (that were lobbied for by ARRL) that gave the most privileges to morsemen; they fear loss of 'prestige' and privilege if the morse code test goes away, yet are too proud to admit their fear (which is almost palpable in some of these messages).

As a counterpoint to elimination of the code test, many of the more 'vocal' pro-coders have taken their 'side' to rather severe (and highly misplaced) lengths. They accuse the 'no-coders' of everything from homosexuality to perversion to unpatriotic activies to bestiality.

Most of the personal-insult pro-coder group use pseudonyms on newsgroups, possibly afraid of revealing their true identity; none
less these 'anony-mousies" behave in immature fashion, more like middle-school males trying to assert their machismo even though they try to hide via anonymity.

Heil, a pro-coder, tries to misdirect things by attempting to make a flame war about personalities:

> >How do you know how many see Al as an arbiter? How many do you believe > >think you'd make a good arbiter in discussions of amateur radio?

"Arbeit macht frei" - sign over one of the entrances to Auschwitz.

["work sets you free"]

Let's everyone WORK for that amateur radio license!!! :-)

Hiel is indeed slightly more trustworthy than say Robeson (talk about daming with faint praise)

but the effort at misderection is harmless and in this case merely shows the dishonestly of the ProCode forces

the fact is I woluld easily reconize an "SOS" so would you, and either call someone that could read the signal or use the technology to decode the signal and send help indeed the same programs and interface that have allowed me at least One EME contact allow to read and send a Morse encoded CW signal

thus as I have said I can aid somebody with CW if it came to that Selective amnesia...

With the advent of the No-Code Technician license, memorization became a bad, bad thing.

unhealthy to allow that fear to paralyze you.

Huh? Lets let the FCC tell us that it is impractical to have everyone take mode exams. Or lets let the council of VECs tul us the same thing.

And I wasn't born yet.

But the technilogy was worthwhile and moved forward - without morse

Hams could save more lives by supporting a blood drive than than standing by waiting for that emergency to use morse code.
I hear about hams supporting public service, my daughter DID 75 hrs of public service last year as a ten year old Girl Scout. I learned CW even got up to 20 wpm but I dont think it should be any more of a requirement than any other mode of operation. There is a lot of hams who may not be able to save anyones lives but they could save their own by turning off the radio for an hour and taking a walk

I have an idea, Peter. Let's leave the GK nom with just Mark, and I'll change the BU nom to include all of RRAP. Sound good to you? That way, further investigations can be made without x-poasting to a net.dead froup.

Just wondering...

Do you really think what you post on a newsgroup is going to make ANY difference in the real world...

Just because you bitch and moan on here, isnt going to make them revise the licensing rules..

Get over it and move on...

Because Ham radio is dying. If you make it easier, you can attract more losers who may have joined earlier. Shortwave and Ham radio is dead. If you ask the man on the street what AM or FM is? They can answer you ,it"s what the hear on their car radio. The difference is the buttons on the radio. If you ask them what shortwave is? They would not have a fucking clue. It's DEAD. Get a life.

Kewl!

Due to the fact that Cletis Perkins appears to be typical of the newsgroup rec.radio.amateur.policy's membership (apart from the ones who are simply boring), I do hereby retract my nomination of him and re-submit it for the entire group. However, he can keep his noms for teh Bratlo (seconded by Bob Officer), the GAB, the Kaczynski, and the Bullis, as they all apply to him more than RRAP.

Maybe if you ask the average lame clueless bastard in the US. Shortwave and amateur radio are alive and well and flourishing in other parts of the world. Indeed, in many countries SW is still the system of choice to cover a wide area.

It gets worse. Go to the QRZ bio page for K4YZ and use his link to his AOL Home Page. There he claims not only an Assistant "CHOP" (presumably CHief OPerator) but as THE CHOP of another MARS station! He'd never mentioned being at that 2nd MARS station in here.

Yeah, but look at the MASSIVE outpouring of his claims, insults, and generally vague, undetailed personal history of his. Whoever takes it on will probably need a dozen file cabinets to store all the printouts! :-)

K00ky Outer Filth and their enablers don't get to complain about spam, because they're scumbag terrorists. You deserve to have your home fire-bombed and your place of work taken out with several missile attacks. You have no redeeming qualities worthy of mention. If you have any living family members or other relatives, I hope they all disown
you. May you all (in rmcr) die of syphilis. If you don't want to wade through an ocean of OT posts, I suggest you abandon rmcr.

Hi Davey! Guess your lie that you don't post under anything but your own name was just another one of your many lies.

Poor Davey, his lameness shows why he was relegated to the press releases after his rear echelon stint in 'nam. Too bad he didn't inherit his pedo father's news writing abilities, feeble as they were.

Funny how Stagger Lee thinks an Alabama ARES website is one for an WV ARES organization.

Oh, the irony, Davey. Hide behind your wifey the ex street whore lately?

You mean like how he thought "Layla" was named for your whore wife instead of Patty Harrison?

Hey, Davey, you are talking to yourself again. Or are you reenacting those QSOs with the out of band Frenchmen again?

A mysterious extraterrestrial ball of light discovered in Ireland

Hello,

I apologize for disturbing you in your private mailbox. I belong to a team of people who made an unbelievable discovery. Today we want to spread this knowledge as far as possible because what we discovered is a very important concern for everybody. We would like to talk personally to everybody but unfortunately it is impossible. Internet is the only way we can use to come in touch with many people and share our discovery. Please take a few minutes to read the text below and if it doesn't interest you, simply ignore it. If you want to go a little bit further, feel free to do it. The only thing we ask is respect and no aggression.

This is neither commercial action, nor a gag or a trap. It is only a sincere wish to share an information that concerns and can give a new start to everybody.

Thank you for your time and reading.
Sincerely,
Arecibo

Source information : http://t/helightb/all.fu/npic/.de

A team of 5 experts discovered in Ireland an old celtic site old of many thousands years. It has stayed untouched for one thousand five hundreds years. On this site the team, an archeologist, a computer expert, an expert of old languages, an architect and a biologist discover a black chest made in ebony wood. This box is obviously not celtic.

After days of studies to open this chest without damaging anything, they discover at last what is inside. To their utmost surprise, they see a ball of light which is floating in the middle of the chest. After days of work on this lightball to understand what it could be, the linguist guy pushed by impatience and inattention touches this famous ball. He feels no pain, but the ball will stop at once its radiance, leaving a kind of very small flying saucer. This one seems to be a very highly sophisticated hard disc. Its origin is obviously extraterrestrial. Months of studies will be needed to be able to produce something from this extraterrestrial technology. At last the computer expert will produce a kind of text printed directly as pictures from this hard disc. These texts are written mainly in Runes mixed with points and other signs. Those other signs and drawings were completely unknown. Years will be needed by the whole team to be able to translate these strange extraterrestrial texts.

Its contents is really fabulous and even more incredible is the fact that the texts were stocked in this hard disc until the precise second where it was touched by the language expert. The knowledge brought in these texts is so revolutionary for humanity that it means a complete change in our way to understand our past but mainly to deal with our very near future. Once more years will be needed for the team to integrate such extraterrestrial ideas. The results of such a way will be a complete liberation of the psychology and even little by little an integration of psychic powers. The teaching of the disc invites mankind to step into the consciousness needed to belong to the cosmic brotherhood, among the other races who know and see each other so often. This today should be humanity's place and we must learn to get it. All the explanations about a huge cosmic war were also given in the texts. The cultural and psychological knowledge given through these means are no contest, but the biggest event of our civili

A team of people more or less close to the team of scientists have decided to witness what they learnt through the team of scientists. The changes brought by these teachings are incredibly powerful and if you start this so astonishing experience, your life will be completely different in the future. It's not here a simple cultural experience but a real revolution in your life. You'll have to be strong and open-minded to digest these fabulous explanations. All this is powerful enough to change completely the destiny of mankind. We try through this posting to gather a maximum of people. Most of the population is afraid of such a discovery and we know it's very hard to find enough people to exchange about such a subject. That's the reason why we contact you directly by mail : we could gather the whole team of witnesses on one forum which is in fact not a real forum because there is only one thread. Our thread-forum will be only one split into two, one in German and the same one in English. That is why we invite here everybody who could be interested to gather on the same following address: http://the/ligh/tbal/l.funpic.de .By honesty and also because our goal is not to deal with a forum, ours, is and will stay only one thread. Our little forum is very new and we hope that some of you will be able to join this new experience which will produce a new thread on your own forum with a new circle of witnesses through our forum, because we wish to spread the knowledge from this astonishing event for the best of the world. We are doing our best to contact as many people as possible and as many forums as we can to gather the witnesses and theexperience hoping that this will produce a new wave of information all over the world. The light ball gave also information about a kind of vessel called Merkabah (not exactly what is known in the Kabbalah) more used as a lighthouse to indicate to our cosmic brothers that we finally stepped into cosmic consciousness

Each witness had a very different experience with the experts' team. Some know some of them and only a little and some others know very well the whole team and even the hard disc itself, but everyone has a direct experience with this story. We believe that the diversity of the witnesses will bring more objectivity and interest for this so important subject which cannot be treated like any other subject. We hope to meet you in this so incredible discussion which will create a new spreading of the knowledge all over the world.

The organisers, one part of the witnesses. (http://theli/gh/tb/a/ll.f/unp/ic.de)

1) This is usenet.
2) See alt.usenet.kooks in the groups line? We specialise in the analysis of kooks, which necessarily means a fair amount of rudeness must be endured, from time to time. On all sides.
3) This is USENET.

Check out the FCC regs.
"Sec. 15.225 Operation within the band 13.110-14.010 MHz.

(a) The field strength of any emissions within the band 13.553-
13.567 MHz shall not exceed 15,848 microvolts/meter at 30 meters.

(b) Within the bands 13.410-13.553 MHz and 13.567-13.710 MHz, the field strength of any emissions shall not exceed 334 microvolts/meter at 30 meters.

(c) Within the bands 13.110-13.410 MHz and 13.710-14.010 MHz the field strength of any emissions shall not exceed 106
microvolts/meter at

30 meters. "

My ISM/HiFer beacon has been copied from over 100 miles away.
And it is not running anywhre near the legal limit. At max if is adjusted for a S2 reading on a R2000 about 1 mile from the ISM "intentional emitter".
I am running AM so SSB should carry much further.

How so, Rogie? Is the Stagger Lee header the same as in my message?
Was I incorrect that in recent days you believed that I am Stagger Lee, then you believed that Lloyd is Stagger Lee and then returned to the belief that I am Stagger Lee? It is true that you've accused a number of people of being Stagger Lee. Why not admit that you just don't know?

Linear thought doesn't appear to be one of your specialties.

Relegated? You've been relegated to a career of sock puppet filth postings to usenet.

Have you read some of my Dad's writing, Rog? What did you read? Did you catch his interviews with Bing Crosby or Golda Meier? What didn't you like about them? Did you read his book? What stories have you read which accuse him of being a "pedo"? I think he owned a pedometer once.

Roger Wiseman used to post as himself. He used e-mail addresses with his callsign as a part of them under both KC8JBO and AB8MQ. Several years ago he began posting through anonymous remailers and more recently through Google. He insists that he is not Roger Wiseman and refers to himself in the third person. Why do you suppose that is? The answer can be found in West Virginia's cyberstalking law, enacted in 2002:

ï¿½61-3C-14a. Obscene, anonymous, harassing and threatening communications by computer; penalty.

(a) It is unlawful for any person, with the intent to harass or abuse another person, to use a computer to:
(1) Make contact with another without disclosing his or her identity with the intent to harass or abuse;
(2) Make contact with a person after being requested by the person to desist from contacting them;
(3) Threaten to commit a crime against any person or property; or
(4) Cause obscene material to be delivered or transmitted to a specific person after being requested to desist from sending such material.
For purposes of this section, "obscene material" means material that:
(A) An average person, applying contemporary adult community standards, would find, taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest, is intended to appeal to the prurient interest, or is pandered to a prurient interest;
(B) An average person, applying contemporary adult community standards, would find, depicts or describes, in a patently offensive way, sexually explicit conduct consisting of an ultimate sexual act, normal or perverted, actual or simulated, an excretory function, masturbation, lewd exhibition of the genitals, or sadomasochistic sexual abuse; and
(C) A reasonable person would find, taken as a whole, lacks literary, artistic, political or scientific value.
(b) It is unlawful for any person to knowingly permit a computer under his or her control to be used for any purpose prohibited by this section.
(c) Any offense committed under this section may be determined to have occurred at the place at which the contact originated or the place at which the contact was received or intended to be received.
(d) Any person who violates a provision of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or confined in a county or regional jail not more than six months, or both. For a second or subsequent offense, the person is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars or confined in a county or regional jail for not more than one year, or both.

It won't happen. Slow Code.

Morkie is co-dependent upon any person who apparently "victimizes" him. He is addicted to being humiliated. He loves it.

> They only tease you because of the stupid things you say when you

But don'e YOU get it...?!?!

Morkie can't HELP but say stupid things, even if it's a thread he initiates.

> Stop giving them reasons to tease you. It only makes you look > more stupid.

That would only result if Morkie stopped posting here, and as you've seen, despite countless offers of encouragment to at least FIX his grammatical abuses, he steadfastly REFUSES to do so.

He LIKES getting what he perceives as "abuse".

Fo whatever reason, he LIKES looking stupid.

The only moon Morkie bounces on is his "wifes". And I am sure HE
(the "wife") doesn't mind.

Wanted to thank you for your posts about the code.

Because of you I just upgraded (Saturday) from technician to general. I breezed the 5 wpm and am up to around 15wpm according to the W1AW pratice broadcasts. I never would have bothered to learn CW if it wasn't for you.

I know I only "need" 5 wpm but I am not going to upgrade to extra until I can cpy 25 wpm SOLID!

This is in honor of my electronic elmer, Slow Code.

Thanks......

Tsk, tsk, tsk, anony-mousie "Jawod," that LID is doing the "slamming," not I. :-)

Why are YOU so upset, "Jawod?" You don't exist. You are a mere figment of your own imagination. The FCC doesn't license figments...

>Perhaps that same psych
>grad student has some prime real estate closer to (your) home?

Which home? The one in California or the one in Washington (state)? :-)

As far as the southern home is concerned, its address has been printed with every article I had published in HAM RADIO magazine. It's still the same address.

No problem on "knowing psych" people. Graduates...of USC, (University of California) of UI (University of Illinois), of University of Wisconsin at Madison. "Students?" Not greatly acquainted with any, only their instructors. My wife has two Masters Degrees, one of which required a thorough education in mental health...and she was licensed in two states for private practice.

"Jawod," what you just attempted to do was INTIMIDATE through suggestion. Old, old BLUFF. Didn't work, of course, but you just had to try the bully game, didn't you? :-)

That bluff-intimidation ploy has been used for years and years on BBSs and Internet...almost always by those too cowardly to reveal their true identity. [few of us would be "scared" if we found out how you REALLY are...] Try not to be such a blatant bullshitter in the future, OK?

Beep, beep and bye-eeee...

ARRL views itself as "representative" of the ARS. Unfortunately, the 'ARS' stands for Amateur Radiotelegraphy Society.

Yes and no. When it comes to Status-Rank-Privilege the fear of LOSS of those seems to take on a life of its own. They are SOMEBODIES at present, complete with federally-authorized permission and certificates (suitable for framing) to "prove" that. Take away the status, the rank, and perhaps privileges and they are (in their own perception) "lesser beings." That seems to work with the normal prime survival rule in humans.

Positive feedback (pro-code type) allowed. Negative feedback

Klein, armed only with an air of self-importance and inflated claims of experience, is shooting from the lip.

IF and only IF such a "practical test" were imposed, the time of testing EACH license applicant would increase dramatically.

VEs would have to spend at least a day's worth of time on each applicant. I think VEs would object to such enforced labor in a Volunteer task.

As with other proponents of a "practical test," Klein hasn't explained WHO will maintain the equipment necessary for such "practical tests" nor make up the much-more-complicated test tasks and grading. Who will pay for the equipment that would cover "everything" as to modes and operations? The FCC? The VECs? Who will pay the VEs for their (essentially) "jobs"?

Klein assigns an importance and ability of AMATEUR activities in radio far higher than professional ones. This is wrong, but it serves his and other pro-coders self-image of being "better" because they passed tests lobbied-for by those of the same mindset.

>If the league pushes the morse testing issue too hard, it will become >obvious to the 25% that are members.

I don't think so. The Amateur Radiotelegraphy Society is very firmly SET in their ideas of keeping the "heritage" and "tradition" of being a living museum of archaic radio. Those firm believers and worshippers at the Church of St. Hiram are disciples and they haven't had their last supper yet.

That's a draconian sort of realism...but, unfortunately true.

Believers can be extremely stubborn. "The only way you'll stop morse code is to pry my code key from my cold, dead fingers" isn't an idle threat. Morsemen as SOMEBODIES and they will hold that banner high even as they crumble.

That shows they are only whining, not thinking. In order to preserve their self-image of importance they have to continue whining on how they are so self-important. If they REALLY CARED about their sacred amateurism they would get busy and work at preserving things. Perhaps mumifying instead of preservation...

It is, but they are self-important because of a singular skill test that makes them "better" than others..."better" in ways not even remotely connected to that singular skill test.

Nah...Bill G. QUIT Harvard "to pursue other interests." :-)

He could probably BUY Harvard now...and have lots more left

Oh, yeah, and Bill Gates is PRO-CODE! Only problem for hams is that the "code" isn't morse but programming code... :-)

It is TRUE according to the ARRL's own history. But, they've

I thought Robesin had put on his (invisible) USMC uniform and was busy pounding brass with the USCG offshore from Beirut to

I understand it all.

I understand you're an idiot.

I understand that you're a basement dwelling parasite that your poor, aging parents won't be able to rid themselves of save for death.

I understand that in a fit of rage you made a Freudian slip that disclosed your TRUE power for your pirate radio station whish is a quantum leap over the Part 15 limits you CLAIM you're observing.

UNDERSTAND IT...NO ONE HERE (EXCEPT FOR MORKIE, AND HE THINKS PEOPLE

Nope. I don't listen. What coul YOU possibly have to say on the air that I can't see here?

And if I am hearing you here, it would be proof that you are violating Part 15, as I already know you are from your posts here.

I don't own a mine, Toiddie, although I took a tour of one in Inyokern, CA, once.

And the FAA and the FCC >>>STILL<<< state that the presence of illegal modifications, even when not "caught in the act" of being used, is evidence of failure to comly with thier respective rules and regulations.

No amount of your pontification about your "freedoms" will change
the FACT that you are implicitly violating several federal laws...

You should try it too.

No...I understand it perfectly well.

YOU screwed up in a fit of rage and actually announced to the world
how much power you really are using for your illegal broadcasting operation.

You have FURTHER screwed up by announcing all these "QSL card requests" you are getting...Just more evidence that you're violating Part 15.

YOU are the MORON if you think the FCC doesn't have engineers that understand the technical limitations of Part 15 as opposed to what you're claiming you're accomplishing.

I know it, LiarBoy.

And I know that just because you are CLAIMINIG to be a "legal"
Part 15 operator, your "bragging" indicates that you're technically incompetent

And if you care to, you can refer to ARRL DXCC award #37,136.

Dipoles and 100 watts served me just fine.

What did you "compile" for Part 15?

I know you're compiling violations, but that's nothing new.

And you didn't answer my question, TrashMouth...

WHY would you generate over 100 watts inorder to radiate less than Part 15 limitis...according to you, that is.......

So many people need to pump themselves up here. Truly amazing.

I have no interest in your wife's degrees, your home(s), your friends or anything else. Nor was any "bluff" intended.

My post was in response to the quote above. If that wasn't you, my apologies. It was a simple statement.

At the Anderscum residence, perhaps.

For the nearly 700,000 of us with licenses, it's the Amateur Radio Service.

Note: Leonard H. Anderson is not an FCC licensee in that service.

You would know, Lennie...

It's YOU that perceives that loss...For by taking the same test

No one announced "armageddon" in any release that I am aware of.

1. What is this newsgroup, alt.usenet.kooks (AUK)?

A mass of electrons spread out upon bandwidth scattered across the globe for the express purpose of separating the wheat from the chaff of the net.

2. This is a joke, right? RIGHT?!!

No more a joke than the fact that ISPs let people on every day who have nothing better to do than annoy their neighbors enough to win by popular vote silly little awards created for just such buffoons as them.

3. What's this newsgroup for?

The newsgroup alt.usenet.kooks is for the discovery and discussion of Kooks on Usenet and the Internet. These people are known technically as net.kooks.

4. What's this newsgroup NOT for?

This group exists for recreational Kookology, not for Very Personal Vendetta. It is not to be used for general harassment of someone, or for net abuse such as spamming and flooding and cancelbombing in an attempt to gain vengeance on someone or get the denizens of AUK to shut up. Either way, it won't work, it's very messy, "Bob" will give you triple your money back, and you don't get a life.

Also, we [tinw] are not in the business of harassing the vulnerable or the insane. Occasionally an apparent net.kook proves to be genuinely ill. In such cases the person is disqualified from winning awards and other posters are asked to avoid exarcerbating his or her problems. Similarly, trolling or kook-hunting in support groups is strongly discouraged.

5. Who let this newsgroup in here, and why wasn't I notified?

That's what you get for hogging the Beer Fund.

(Here you can view the control message that started it all, from our Mighty Founder MAC.)

http://www.netcabal.com/auk/cmsg.html

6. Who is a net.kook?

If you post uniquely strange, preferably incomprehensible articles, or you manifest a persistent, extreme, and somewhat bizarre obsession, you just might be a net.kook. And more.

It is important to note the subtle distinction between a net.kook, a net.cretin, a clueless newbie, troll, or garden-variety @$$hole. The newbie, one hopes, can acquire a clue on the installment plan even if he can't afford to buy one for cash; the cretin is merely stupid and/or irritating; the troll makes a fool out of himself by making a fool out of you, the @$$hole is, well, simply that. But a TRUE net.kook has a special fascination derived from his/her/its utter ineffability. Their behavior is irrational, if not downright weird, but they are seldom merely boring.

It is not considered appropriate to nominate clueless newbies, trolls, or longwinded spambrains as net.kooks. It is acceptable to nominate net.cretins, or simply to present them, without nomination, for whatever minor amusement value they may have; but the real focus here is on net.kooks in all their raging, indomitable glory.

Important Disclaimer: the fact that someone has been proclaimed a net.kook does not imply any psychological diagnosis in and of itself. A net.kook may or may not be clinically insane; that is not the concern of the AUK audience.

We hope.

7. Can you show me a few examples?

I'd rather not, but it may help to clarify things... The person who posted a handful of meaningless, ill-formed newgroup messages on May 21, 1994 was a Clueless Newbie. The person who hung around alt.religion.kibology during April and May 1994, constantly posting boilerplate "warning" messages telling people that ARK messages were intentionally meaningless, was a net.cretin. The people who post demented "scientific" theories, like Archimedes Plutonium's concept of the universe being one giant atom of plutonium, and seem incorrigible to criticism, are moderate net.kooks. The sort of being who constantly raves about the conspiracy against her/him/it is an extreme net.kook, especially if he/she/it automatically assumes that anyone who questions their world-view is an agent of the conspirators or is an ultra right-wing/left-wing extremist, and hides behind an anonymous remailer to avoid "persecution" even though they would get one hell of a lot less of it by not posting at all.

8. How do I present a Kook on this group?

The preferred technique is to get the suspected Kook to start posting to AUK so that we can all see him/her/it in all their first-hand Glory. You can do this by posting followups to the suspect's weirder messages, with your followups nonchalantly crossposted to AUK. If the suspect responds to your messages without editing the Newsgroups line, you've achieved your goal.

Another acceptable method is to repost, complete and unedited, one or two of the suspected Kook's recent rants. If you do this, please provide a brief intro in the header describing what the hell you're doing, such as indicating who this person is, what group you found the message on, or why you think the rest of us should give a rat's @$$ about it.

You should be aware that if you try this with some perfectly reasonable posting, you may be flamed to net.hell and back and probably suspected of being a net.loon yourself. It is also considered extremely lame to nominate someone as a Kook simply because you have lost, or at least failed to win, a debate with them; persistently doing so is likely to get you nominated for Kook Awards. That someone fails to perceive the self-evident, unassailable wisdom of your viewpoint does not, in and of itself, constitute Kookery.

9. What are the Kook Awards?

The newsgroup alt.usenet.kooks offers a variety of widely-recognized and highly dubious honors for your service, applying to net.kooks everywhere. They recognize several kinds and many levels of net.kookery.

Here is a detailed list of AUK awards and descriptions.

http://www.netcabal.com/auk/awards.html

10. Who the FSCK appointed YOU net.kookologist/god/nazi etc.

Nobody. We have a Gift.

11. Are there any holidays in AUK?

Why yes, there sure are:

March 30th - CALL to ARMMs

Commemorating the earliest most virulent Kook post flood of Usenet, and the great flamewar that followed in its wake.

June 26th - KOOKS DAY

Named in commemoration of Earl Curley checking into the Motel Deep 6 to serve a major in the pine penalty box, the same date as Edmond Wollmann got arrested riding the San Clemente railway...on his motorcycle.

August 15th - DEAD DOC TAVISH DAY

Named in honor of the death of one of Usenet's most famed identities due to excessive Usenet exposure; his virtual corpse is buried in a rural cemetery near New Bremen, Texas

September 10th - KAZOO DAY

This holiday commemorates Raymond Ronald "Kazoo" Karczewski's conviction for seven felonies. May Raymold be a warning to all kooks who are tempted to think that a "Sovereign Christ" is above the law.

December 20th - AUK BIRTHDAY

The anniversary of the newgrouping of alt.usenet.kooks

12. What should I do if I'm paged on the Red Courtesy Telephone?

Give the caller Gandalf the Gray's speech to the demon. Verbatim.

13. Is alt.usenet.kooks archived anywhere?

Why would you even want to know? [But if you truly must know, GIYF. You masochist, you.]

14. What should we do about the book?

Burn it.

15. Where can I find out more about net.kooks?

Several mini-FAQs on classic kooks of the past and present (along with several non-kooky legendary netters) are available on the World Wide Web in various archives. Be sure to set aside coffee and cats before reading. [Try insurgent.org/kook-faq/]

16. What are the AUK Offices?

As well as the kook awards, kooks may compete to hold office for a month or longer. Nominations are made in exactly the same way as for awards; the difference is that the previous holder of the office always appears on the ballot paper when a new candidate emerges, and the winner remains in office until challenged again. At present, the offices are as follows.

Darth Bawl -

This office is held by Usenet's biggest crybaby.

Village Idiot -

The name says it all.

Kooki Information Minister -

Named in honour of Iraq's Mohammed Saeed al-Sahhaf, this office is held by the kook whose claims are most noticeably at variance with known facts.

Ministry of Circle Jerks -

Although many kooks are lone wolves, a few like to make friends with those who are as delusional as themselves. This office rewards the slurpfests that often ensue.

17. Are there any net.kook awards outside of AUK?

At various points of time there have been several, from the Christian groups' Steebie Award to alt.fan.art-bell's Angstrom Medal. At least two newsgroups, talk.politics.guns and comp.systems.mac.advocacy, have given out their own Kook of the Month awards. Check around from time to time to see what other net.kook awards might be around. [alt.atheism does them, too.]

18. What is the Cabal?

From the beginning of Usenet time, there has been but one force capable of holding it in check to remain in the realm of mortal existence. For today's Usenet world you need a Giant. A Behemoth. A Cabal of IMMENSE PROPORTIONS. A REALLY BIG CABAL to offer all news ORDER.

Within this force is the most ruthless and efficient organization on all Usenet, known as the Cabal Obsidian Order (COO). If YOU wish to know of this entity, read, learn, and do as you will.

SEE THE LIGHT OF COLLECTIVE WISDOM!!!

A. I SAID, what is the CABAL?

There Is No Cabal. Long Live The Cabal.

B. How does the Cabal function??

As well as any apocryphal organization can hope to function.

C. What are the weaknesses of the Cabal?

<chortle> What weaknesses?

D. What is the hierarchy and power structure of the Cabal?

Oh, you don't need to know that. Really. You can trust us, especially when it comes to information you haven't paid for.

E. What is the Cabal Obsidian Order?

The Cabal Obsidian Order (COO) is a profoundly secret collective of operatives designed to outrun, outgun and Eliminate the most vile scum and villainy the net has to offer.

F. How do I know if the COO is responsible for something?

If the COO's operatives are doing their job correctly, they'll be laughing at whoever is actually responsible.

G. Who are the leaders of the COO?

Leaders? Where we function we don't need Leaders.

H. What is the Beer Fund?

The more you contribute to it, the more we will tell you.

I. How may I apply to become an operative of the COO?

Pitiful begging at the Vote Wrangler's feet might help. Then again it might not.

19. Who is the FNVW?

Why, our highly esteemed Friendly Neighbourhood Vote Wrangler (FNVW), whose benevolent supreme dictatorship runs the electoral wheels of our great realm. Seven fearless folk have served, with distinction:

AUK VOTE WRANGLERS

Craig Dickson (1994-1995)
Matthew Legare (1995-1997)
Killfile Daemons (1997)
Robbie Honerkamp (1997-1998)
Phoenix (1997-2004)
Peter J Ross (2004-2006)
Sean Monaghan (2006-Present)

On retirement, Phoenix accepted the high office of Friendly Neighborhood "Bob"father.

20. Do I have what it takes to BE a Vote Wrangler?

<chortle> If you have to ask, you don't have what it takes.

21. Who do you %$#@!s think you are to oppose ME, Lord High Poster-Child of the Macrocosmic Universe?

We are the ones who can and will humiliate your @$$ if you use our group as your personal piss bowl. You are a freak of the universe. You do not give the orders here. And whether you like it or not, the universe is laughing behind your back.

22. That was MEAN, just plain MEAN!!!

Payback's a bitch, ain't it?

23. Should I expect ONE CONSISTENT response to my rude and obnoxious online behavior from the denizens of AUK?

Absolutely NOT.

24. To whom should I complain if I think I have been treated unfairly?

<Darth Vader>
You think you have been treated unfairly? </Darth Vader>

25. What kind of response can I expect as a result of my stupid online behavior at AUK?

Guilty party receives one or a combination thereof of the following assorted reactions (not at all limited to these, mind you):

1. Complete silence while we blow you off
2. Complete silence while we reload
3. Complete silence while we pull the plug on your account
4. Complete silence while we sleep at the switch
5. Complete silence while we sleep in our beds
6. Complete silence while we laugh behind your back
7. Complete silence while we wipe the splattered food and/or drinks off our screens
8. Complete silence while we contemplate the known macrocosmic universe
9. Complete silence while the Vote Wrangler pays good money to watch professional Denver teams find new ways to lose
10. Complete silence while we bask in the pure glow of our obnoxiously self-righteous selves
11. Complete silence while we play high-stakes poker with Snoopy, Spike, Andy, Olaf, Marbles and Woodstock
12. Complete silence while we never notice your NoCeM'd post
13. Complete silence while we never notice your spam-canceled post
14. Complete silence while we run your rude and obnoxious posts through goofyizers for reposting
15. Complete silence while the Trekkies among us watch the USS Defiant blast bad guys' ships into rubble and fly through the debris with that nice halo of sparks effect
16. Complete silence while we wait for our Gates-sponsored software systems to uncrash themselves
17. General laughter at your expense
18. General laughter and pointing at your expense
19. General laughter, pointing and personal insults at your expense
20. Someone exposes your true service provider to the Rabble
21. Someone does any of 1-20 and reports you to your state's Attorney General
22. Someone does any of 1-21 and reports you to the FBI National Computer Crime Squad (nccs@fbi.gov)
23. Someone does any of 1-22 and does highly amusing parodies of you during the entire process
24. Talk amongst ourselves about life, love and why they sell 8-hot-dog weenie sets with 10-bun packages

25. Sounds of awe as we wonder with dropped mouths how you were able to make a greater fool of yourself than you already had
26. Sounds of astonishment as we MARVEL at the FREAK
27. Flames in your generally specific direction
28. Flames of you in the third, fourth and fifth person
29. Flames from the Vote Wrangler from the other side of the Galactic Killfile just to annoy all hell out of you
30. Nominations for many noteworthy Kook awards

26. Can I really be kicked off my ISP for...

Being a total @$$hole?

If you try hard enough.

Top-posting like the pathetic imbecile that I am?

Usually not, but we can always try.

Forging someone else's valid e-mail address?

Absolutely.

Posting multiple copies of the same message to individual news groups (Excessive Multi Posting [EMP])?

Of course. It's the SPAMMING, stupid.

27. Can I really be thrown in jail for posting threatening messages?

Yes. People have been tried and convicted for sending threatening or harassing Email or Usenet posts. We do NOT support censorship of the Internet; however, posting a message stating you are going to cause virtual or unvirtual harm to someone will probably gain you a visit from your Friendly Neighborhood FBI Agent.

28. Fine. I'll just remain anonymous. That'll work, right?

BWWAAAAAAAAA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Try it, pinkboy. An anon remailer service can be forced to turn you in for copyright violation, harassment, stalking; you name the crime - they've got the time. If you ran an anon remailer service what would be the point of protecting flagrant abusers of the net and the Law??

29. Okay, then I'll bust your #$%&$*!! @$$ off AUK instead!

Uh... yeah. Many denizens of AUK are abuse admins, know abuse admins, sleep with abuse admins, or otherwise have years of experience dealing with and educating others about precisely your kind of dubiosity. A good account is a terrible thing to waste, so don't sacrifice yours on our altar.

30. I just realized I am a Maroon. How can I improve my standing in the eyes of the Internet, my balloon doll, and, most importantly, "Bob"?

REPENT. The End is always near.

He still won't admit to getting busted.

He saw the names of several units on signs while on a tour of Ft
Sill, then tried to "put together" some unit that he immediate said
"was reorganized into non-existance"...

He can find tons of references to all of the sound-alikes, but can't find this mysterious unit of his...

He can find tons of posts, blogs, etc, of all his "friends", but not a ONE of them mention HIM...Official or UNofficial sites.

Morkie thinks that by posting and re-posting alll those other links, ALL OF WHICH DISPROVE his rants, makes a difference...

Well...He's PARTIALLY correct...

They DO make a difference in that they PROVE ME RIGHT!

Of course it would help if Morkie told us what that "secret name" was that he allegedly served under since he ALSO tried to hide his Army lies under that lie about "I didn't serve under Mark Morgan"...

WHY does Mark Morgan, KB9RQZ, make SUCH FLAGRANT LIES in the fqace

Naaaahhhhhh....I don't believe Morkie could be a heroin junkie...That would require some skill to liquify the drug, draw it up into the syringe, then inject it to a viable vein.

Morkie couldn't spell "spoon", let alone use one to get hig with.

No...Morike was ON THE LAMB....Not "on-the-lam"...

And I am sure he was "on" several other barnyard animals from time-to-time. Probably why he moved so far north. Knowing he was under investigation, it would hardly do foir him to be mid-stroke and have a photographer pop out of the woodwork, now would it...?!?!

I understand it all.

I understand you're an idiot.

I understand that you're a basement dwelling parasite that your poor, aging parents won't be able to rid themselves of save for death.

I understand that in a fit of rage you made a Freudian slip that disclosed your TRUE power for your pirate radio station whish is a quantum leap over the Part 15 limits you CLAIM you're observing.

BELEIVE >>>HIS<<< LIES) BELIEVES YOU'RE GENERATING 100 WATTS OF RF IN

Nope. I don't listen. What coul YOU possibly have to say on the air that I can't see here?

And if I am hearing you here, it would be proof that you are violating Part 15, as I already know you are from your posts here.

I don't own a mine, Toiddie, although I took a tour of one in Inyokern, CA, once.

And the FAA and the FCC >>>STILL<<< state that the presence of illegal modifications, even when not "caught in the act" of being used,

is evidence of failure to comly with thier respective rules and regulations.

No amount of your pontification about your "freedoms" will change
the FACT that you are implicitly violating several federal laws...

using the education I was provided with to properly apply English

You should try it too.

No...I understand it perfectly well.

YOU screwed up in a fit of rage and actually announced to the world

operation.

You have FURTHER screwed up by announcing all these "QSL card
requests" you are getting...Just more evidence that you're violating Part 15.

YOU are the MORON if you think the FCC doesn't have engineers that understand the technical limitations of Part 15 as opposed to what you're claiming you're accomplishing.

I know it, LiarBoy.

And I know that just because you are CLAIMINIG to be a "legal"
Part 15 operator, your "bragging" indicates that you're technically incompetent

Dipoles and 100 watts served me just fine.

What did you "compile" for Part 15?

I know you're compiling violations, but that's nothing new.

And you didn't answer my question, TrashMouth...

WHY would you generate over 100 watts inorder to radiate less than Part 15 limitis...according to you, that is.......

Not true, absolutely. Never heard of QRP? Low power stations can go a LONG ways, not just interSTATE but interCONTINENTAL on HF frequencies. 100mW kiddie walkie talkies have been heard 2/3 of the way across the country (the old 11m CB ones) during peaks in the skip season on 11m.

if you don't want to read something then don't

you don't call someone a child molestor to get them to use a Spell checker, it just doesn't work steeve after 8 years I would have thought youd noticed that you get them to do your bidding by lying about the wives or stlaking their entire family it doesn't work

cease and desist that is the best advice you can be given

Again steve, it's not Wattage the FCC is looking at under part 15, it's voltage and you can produce different wattage at one voltage. I'm running 100 watts but at 30 meters my voltage is 333uV. If one votage say 110 volts puts out one wattage, then why do we have an assortment of wattage of light bulbs?? but hey steve, if you think I'm Illegal, bitch to the FCC, if not shut the HELL UP!!!!

OMEGA ONE RADIO
13.556.00 MHz
100 watts of power!!!

Proof? Ceasing and desisting from telling others to cease and desist would probably help you, too. Don't take that as an order, however. Kook out as much as you like -- net.KKKops make the most amusing k00ks.

I know you're right.

Mark butts into treads that aren't even about him with his 'cease and desist' and all his other unintelligible mis-spelled crap. Then when he gets flamed back or called a tard over it, he thinks it's a personal attack. Mark just needs to learn to keep quiet and let the hams talk radio.

I'm trying to help him by reminding him to not butt into threads and to ignore attacks so those of us that care about ham radio can get back to discussing the radio issues that will protect and help preserve the service.

Mark's posts make it tough to discuss radio issues because everyone is to busy laughing at him they forget the issue. He has even got the AUK goof-balls teasing him now.

Maybe that's Marks plan. To disrupt the radio groups so we Can't discuss issues needed to save ham radio.

He did say he wanted to be the first no-code Extra.

Markie, Just ignore them.

They only tease you because of the stupid things you say when you follow up. Just ignore them and they'll give up.

Stop giving them reasons to tease you. It only makes you look more stupid.

Usenet radio groups were a lot nicer before ham radio got dumbed down. Now the ham radio groups have a CB feel to them.

They only tease you because of the stupid things you say when you

Stop giving them reasons to tease you. It only makes you look

Some old time ham in the area needs to step in and show the scouts how ham radio and CW can save lives and help communities in emergencies.

Nickle Generals & Extra's have a hard time promoting amateur radio. All they want to do is promote dumbing it down more. It's no wonder the scouts aren't interested.

Markie, Just ignore them.

They only tease you because of the stupid things you say when you follow up. Just ignore them and they'll give up.

Stop giving them reasons to tease you. It only makes you look more stupid.

If your husband is an attorney, I suggest you get him to give you some legal advice. There's no way any "cease and desist" order or notice given on USENET can have any validity whatsoever in any court. You are just wasting your time - but by all means, continue entertaining the rest of us.

Well, I googled on JR. Guess what I found out? You're a paranoid k00k. You were temporarily confused with the k00k known as Jimmy The Sniggler, aka TH3, but you're still a k00k. However, I have the Outer Filth k00ks in rmcr (and their enablers) to attend to right now, so I won't be nominating you...this month.

Why's that?? the voltage at 30 meters at my station is well below 15,848 uV. What steve and the others don't understand is you CAN product different wattage at a certain voltage, if not we wouldn't 60 to 100 watt light bulbs that screw into 110 V

um...dumbass, you can product different wattage at a certain voltage, if not we would have 60 to 100 WATT light bulbs plugged into 110 V, if 110V on put out on form of watt. Learn something about electricity.

The FCC changed that rule last year...some sites don't have the new rules posted. The voltage now is 15,848 uV/m @ 30 meters

The FCC is looking at VOLTAGE, not WATTAGE, voltage can produce different types of voltage...again if this is not so, then why do we have an assortment of light bulbs that range from 60 watts to 100 watts
when you plug them into 110 V??

Did you mean "blasphemous"? Because blasphemy is holy to me. So is disrespect...

Nope, we have you slated for at least a couple more weeks of humiliation, after which you will be banished to the Outer Darkness (nothing to do with Outer Filth) for being a boring k00k. After that, we can in turn investigate your opponents, at least most of whom, while not quite so boring, are very much k00ks. Homophobes, racists, and pedophiles/pederasts are all k00ks of the craziest sort, and rec.radio.* appears to be infested with them, along with net.KKKops such as yourself.

No, I just happen to poast from a group which has an awful lot of sysadmins who're of a like mind with me about k00ks. Many k00ks are interesting to poke and prod, and such is our raison d'ï¿½tre. It may be cruel, but life's like that.

CORRECTION:

The FCC is looking at VOLTAGE, not WATTAGE, voltage can produce different types of WATTAGE...again if this is not so, then why do we have an assortment of light bulbs that range from 60 watts to 100 watts

when you plug them into 110 V??

When are you leaving the group to go do that, "Slow?"

Oh, and while you're at it, why don't you inform the group
the date when amateur radio morse code saved ANYONE's life?
Betcha can't do it...

On 7 July 2006 the FCC released its Independent Panel report on the worst natural disaster to hit the USA, Hurricane Katrina. You can find it in the Federal Register of that date. In there you can find an objective report on how much radio amateurs helped their communities.

BTW, Comments on that Report are due on or before 21 August 2006...today. Have you sent in your Comment, "Slow?" No?

>Nickle Generals & Extra's have a hard time promoting amateur radio. All >they want to do is promote dumbing it down more.

Tsk, if anyone was doing "dumbing it down more," they'd have to outdo your own retrograde, freeze-it-in-YOUR-youth ham radio, "Slow." Feel proud. You are practically a one-ham show on dumbing down the service...

>It's no wonder the scouts aren't interested.

Tsk, you should have recited your own tale of saving the Titanic...when you were asleep on the US California...

Privatization of license testing happened BEFORE the Internet went public and creation of amateur radio newsgroups in what many still call "USENET." With privatization of testing came the open question pools.

Awwww...you can't find enough for a group to sit around and bullshit to one another on how "good" and "magical" is CW?

It's "minority rule" when ARRL lobbies for preservation of morse code test for any amateur radio license class. The ARRL membership is slightly less than a quarter of all US amateur radio licensees.

Ahem...my reference was the old fairy tale, "The Emperor's New Clothes." :-)

That's the one where a full-of-himself ruler ordered some new clothes and the tailor buttered him up (while not sewing any new clothes) so much that the Emperor bought into this pandering to his ego and appeared in public with his "new clothes" (he was naked). Needless to say, the public laughed and laughed at this ridiculous spectacle. :-)

Robeson has been all full of himself in here about his alleged "USMC service" yet he has presented zero-point-zero evidence from anyone else (or any legitimate agency) that he ever served on active USMC duty for any of his claimed "18 years."

Even though he NOW thinks of himself AS the amateur radio service personified (anything against him is somehow against ALL radio amateurs), he is still parodying the "Emperor."

Isnt that the main point tho.... they have no power to do anything...

They are just sad ppl with nothing better to do. Next they will be you should have to pay a monthly fee to use the airwaves...

Maybe have a subscription fee, that would stop most of the scum (yeh

Wrong. FCC gonna shut your dumbass down for sure.

they are looking at microvolts per meter, which is "field strength", not voltage, numb nuts.

Nah, Wiseman had less to do with it than you, Mark. Anyway, Woger and the gang are getting theirs -- the Busted Urinal has only one nominee, TTBOMK, and that is rec.radio.amateur.policy.

Busted Urinal Award

The reward for the Lamest of the Lame on Usenet. One who clogs and stinks up the joint like a busted urinal, you could say.

It's a Lifetime Achievement Award, too, one about which kookologists will

Major Robeson please grow up you are what 51 years old and go around typing liar liar pants on fire. The only other place I have ever heard that the phrase was when working a Substitute teacher for a k-3 grades

nobody has to post to your standards

if you don't want to read something then don't

you don't call someone a child molestor to get them to use a Spell checker, it just doesn't work steeve after 8 years I would have thought youd noticed that you get them to do your bidding by lying about the wives or stlaking their entire family it doesn't work

cease and desist that is the best advice you can be given

You calim to have evidence that Tood is running ilgeal power

the answer is simple turnn him in

I think you will find you have no evidence that he is running legal or ilegal power levels lacking such evidence Todd in inocent of any wrong doing (if he is doing anything wrong sorry TooD I simply don't know if you are or are not runing legal power)

INOCENT TILL PROVEN GUILTY Steve that is the law it gets a bit battered in many areas but it is still the LAW of the LAND

What part of the GMRS license would be a better filter?

The 5 year duration between renewals, the $75/£40 charge or just the general way of applying for it?

Im not saying i disagree, just wondering what you meant..

having to pay to use the ARS freqs might be more of a deterant to those with bad attiudes than a code test not to say it would be a good filter but fee for license with the license fee used for enforcement here in the state the license is free (the tests cost something) and the FCC is always complaining it laks any funding to go after ham violators I suspect you are a brit and so this might escape you I should have been clearer nice to see someone serious paying attention here I had assume the

The fact that you think people are trying to "force you off the internet" is proof enough, all by itself. Get a grip, and realise you are not a VIP on usenet just because you have a rich husband. Before you start foaming at me, know that I can read an FAQ, too. _Now_, you can start foaming.

QRP is often my favourite mode of operation - it's quite a challenge. I've found it's frequently possible to talk across the Atlantic with 5 Watts p-e-p SSS on 14 MHz!

ABSOLUTELY! Annoying the fuck out of a net.KKKop tard like yourself is its own reward. Also, it's an object lesson in the kind of notoriety you /could/ have had, if you'd been a more interesting k00k. Finally, it's a precursor of the shape of things to come...

Oh, how cwever, Mark, you snecked the froups. Anyway. Wiseman's a fucktard who will get his full recognition in due course, but yours will come first, boring k00k. Your admonitions to "cease and desist" are meaningless and carry no weight with any ISP or court of law. You may eventually wind up with the Balsa Gavel, if you keep it up. That one goes to litigious kooks, and showcases their complete legal impotency.

What's this "we" business, Fatboy?

And WHO is being "excluded"...?!?

I know quite a few folks with various "disabilities", some even true deafness, that have coded Amateur licneses.

That you don't is only evidence of your unwillingness to put forth the effort to get one.

Yes, it is.

And Tood, as you call him, has admitted to running over 100
WATTS....Not MILIwatts...

He'd have to be using over 10,000 feet of the cheapest, worn-out

"Major Robeson" doesn't post here to "rec.radio.amateur.policy", Mork.

Nor does a "Major Robeson" post to alt.military.cap.

There's no debate here, Morkie.

Just about everyone here knows what an idiot you are.

Even Brian P "Brainless" Burke, N0IMD said you can "out ###hole" anyone.

Every one of your "Feeble Five" buddies not only TURNED YOU DOWN for your "help me trash Steve at the Board of Nursing" rants, but turned you down IN PUBLIC!

> but no thread here is private I opose al the gay bashing that goes on

There's no gay bashing.

YOU happen to be gay, AND you're an idiot.

That you happen to be gay does not mean that we will withhold our criticism of your stupidity in fear of violating some form of "political correctness".

He hasn't.

But he's made fun of folks that do.

If you were as competent in English comprehension as you claim to be, you'd have understood that by now....But you aren't, so yet another nuance of the language made a fool out of you...Again.

The only "proof", Morkie, is a scanned copy of your diploma.

As a matter of fact...Save bandwidth...Hold the "diploma" in your hand while standing next to your "wife" who is in turn holding a sign that acknowledges that "she" is your wife, along with a copy of "USA Today" to validate the picture.

Be sure to hold the diploma in such a way as to NOT obscure your beltline, fatboy!

YOU consider re-broadcasting your alleged father-in-law's address

It's all interrelated. 100 watts into a 1 ohm load would put out a very limited electrical field. (and for a very short time) I'm not sure, but I think this is what he was trying to say: That a given voltage, the power will change based upon changes in resistance (impedance). Of course the type and length of antenna also figures into this equation. I guarantee you I can run 100 watts into a tuned stub coax cable and still be well within the Part 15 specs.

Usually, Toad, you stick your litttle unused penis into those light

Because the bulbs has different resistances, dipwad. The power is v^2/r like any cb operator knows. Free space has a resistance too and it is 377 ohms. But you can't change the resistance of free space like you can do with a light bulb. So the power is e^2 / 377 watts per square meter no matter what you do...dipwad. Mark and I are waiting for you to get that NAL so we can throw a beer enema party you dumbass electrician.

My apologies, I shouldn't have allowed you to think that even for a moment. You are a living cesspool, a vat of slime, a human stain, and your sole purpose in posting is to help your RRAP group earn its Busted Urinal, which you deserve all by yourself. Now, edit out almost all of this post, so I can bitchslap you again.

I don't think I mentioned anything about disciplinary action.

Well, okay. But where I come from, unless one has passed the bar, one is not a lawyer, but merely someone who has gone to law school.

The semantic issue aside, you would do well to avoid taking advice from one who is not a practicing attorney, especially when it comes to usenet.

I agree that every woman needs to have her own bank account and credit cards. I don't agree that the funding for either should come from a spouse (unless there are minor children in the home).

I find that those who stay home all day, with too little to occupy themselves, end up wreaking all manner of havoc just to feel as if they have a life.

On the other hand, a bastard is going to behave like a bastard, whether or not you have your own money. Better to find a good man at the outset than to hope you can come up the winner in a power struggle with a son-of-a-bitch. Power struggles suck--they are representative of cold war, not love--and engaging in them gets one into the very bad habit of trying to "win" with everyone one meets.

I guess what I'm saying, Kathy, is that I begin to see the root of the problem here.

Yeah. But alternate the heat with some cool. Not that I'm suggesting you need any tips, but I'll share anyway. Hey? That's just the kinda guy I am.

Here's my advice;

Brush yer teeth first, but remember to keep the toothpaste handy. Sneak it outta the bathroom if ya have to. Then after all the kissy-kissy stuff is over and you're all set to get down to business, grab the toothpaste and put just a little dab on the end of yer tongue. Swoosh it around a little in yer mouth so it's not too intense for her. (Spearmint-flavor works best, I've found) Now slowly get to work rockin' the little man in the boat remembering not to lick your eyebrows beforehand lest you lose the effect. Once you have him (and her) listing a bit, stop for just a second and blow lightly on her clit (being careful not to blow air up her snatch ... don't wanna chance any of those pesky embolisms ya know) and then go right back to what you were just doing. Repeat every 30 seconds or so until she convulses in ecstasy while ripping every last follicle of hair outta the back of your head. Should take about 2-5 minutes if ya do it right.

Take it or leave it.

what matters is what power gets to ANNTENA not what is put out by the tranmiterr
likewise even where wattage is the issue like the Ham bands I tansmit with (at the amp) say 3 kw if my my feedline loss is 50percent > Mark and I are waiting for you to > get that NAL so we can throw a beer enema party you dumbass electrician.
no I am quite certain Todd will not get an NAL

indeed I would be pretty sure if I had any reason to believe that Tood was transmitting over the line somewhat, the FCC doesn't realy care

now find a way to convining accuse Todd staion of somehow devilering coded messages to Al Queda sleeper cell and you might have a chance at geting an investagation longer than 2-5 minutes.

Pissed? I don't get pissed. But you did something before that for which I'm never going to forgive you for until you retract or apologize. The fact that I'm willing to accept a retraction or apology from you is a pretty big deal. From most people, for such a transgression, I wouldn't accept either.

Your wife only forgave you because she loves you, remember?

In these days of mobile telephones, etc., morse code just gets in the way of emergencies.

But there's nothing to prevent people who appreciate and love the language of Morse, the way it sings, its universality, its beauty, from continuing to use it way into the future.

It is the beauty of Morse, in plain English, never mind the abbreviations, which boy scouts and others who show an interest should be taught to appreciate.

Even if I did, it would not be anywhere near enough to let you use the
"c" word on me.

As I recall, your bride didn't consider it a minor transgression either.

Now would be a good time to grovel.

But you don't use a newsreader with a Bozo Bin. Instead of being a grown-up and ignoring the posts you don't like, you tell people to "cease and desist" posting, even when their posts have nothing to do with you. You're a bit of a fascist, worthy of poking with a pointy stick, but you are also, unfortunatly, a bore. Got anything in your kook arsenel, besides "cease and desist, fake"?

I think you've confused hair pie, with pot pie.

That's right....The FCC is looking at the electrical field, it is the electrical field that causes harmful interference, not the wattage, You can run 5,000 watts into an antenna and still put out a part 15 signal, just bury the antenna in the ground, the soil and rock will damper the electrical field.

Toiddie's still confused and PO'ed at the FCC...Wonders why the FCC didn't consider his applications for LPFM stations written in

You ARE abusing them.

First you invoked the memory of my daughter for your newsgroup

you tell about some Army trooper that died somehow absolves you from coming up with some VALID evidence of your OTHER tales about your Army

It was a CQD actually....
but the point is,
the ham immediately alerted the Frankfurt, Olympic, Carpathia, et al and told them to go save lives! Being simple Marconists however; they all said
'no' so the ham grabbed his portable radio trunk, strapped a J-38 to his leg, jumped into his skiff and madly paddled 46 hours straight out to the stricken ship, all the while tapping out rescue coordination efforts with his elbow, and.... wait... I forget, where does it go from there?

The Titanic knew their coordinates.... didn't slow the influx of H20....
The responding ships had radios too... didn't turn their props any faster....

Answer to the question.... there was no system then.
CW can punch through if there is a human on the other end, where GPS/packet says 'no signal'....
GPS is faster, where CW takes longer....
so one is obsolete, the other inferior.

First off, I have no secrets, and I'm very forthcoming about myself--much to the dismay of some of my friends--but I'm pretty sure I wouldn't involve my husband's business in a usenet flamewar, particularly if he were a professional with a reputation to protect.

I couldn't find him in Martindale, which makes sense if he doesn't practice. I'm not going to talk to the California bar, because that's just too intrusive for my taste, but I've recently worked with a firm in Bakersfield on a trust matter, and if the opportunity arises, I might make casual inquiry. That's just to satisfy my own curiosity; it's not something I would post about either way.

Still, a non-practicing attorney is as useless as one who practices outside his area of expertise.

All lawyers are not created equal. I once had the disturbing experience of working in the same building as one who graduated next to last in his class and received the lowest possible passing percentage on the bar exam. He was a fucking idiot.

Wow.... so you could almost say the reason there was such a disaster [notwithstanding the time period and simple circumstance] is that all these radio operators [and companies] were acting like a bunch of egotistical morons, each thinking their way to be better, and that most vessels communications, wireless ops and policies were almost.....
amateur..... in nature?

And I say I agree with the problem that mentioned for the cw being needed and life saving station for the pc with no code.
It'll never work and if it does it will only be working a pc and if that is not the person then it is not the same so you can say it didn't work anyway because it wasn't a person that needed it.
So there.

Well there ya have it folks.... 50wpm saves lives. So how does it work?
Turn up the speaker really loud and place it [face down] on the person's chest, while an op in South America tapped out universally accepted words that would mimic an atrioventricular rhythm?

Wrong theatre? OK...

Maybe if a person is trapped on a sinking ship in the Indian Ocean you, in Siberia, could tap out a message to someone in Madagascar [who happened to be awake at an odd hour] and that person also owned a large SAR chopper, they could jump in it, saving the time of relaying to anyone else, and go pluck them from certain death?

OH, or better yet... if your neighbor is also a ham.... and your wife fell over with an AMI, you could call your neighbor, give him a freq, then the two of you get set up and running, then you can send a 50wpm message asking your neighbor to call an ambulance? BTW, if the phones are down, you ask him to get in his car and drive down to the local EMS agency, and bring them to you. Life saved!
I'm impressed.

Not true.... commercial stations ID with CW all the time. It's great for Won't work.... memorizing is learning. You know where you live because you memorized it. You know what a diode is because you read it somewhere. Reading a book or taking a class on radio would require you retain [memorize] what you are told or read.

The information on radio should be kept secret, and the real test would be this:
Here's a radio. Take it with you. Come back in 30 days and explain how it works.

Then you get your owner's license, and can buy a radio.

Next test is to listen on-air to the CW [as there is no reason to use phone, if you already speak a language.] and figure out the code without any text or charts.

Then you get your operator's license.

When you can do that, then you can act like you've accomplished something.

>Answer to the question.... there was no system then.

The predecessor organization for SOLAS had not yet made 500 KHz the international distress and safety frequency. "SOLAS" is an acronym for Safety Of Life At Sea.

>CW can punch through if there is a human on the other end, where GPS/packet
>says 'no signal'....
>GPS is faster, where CW takes longer....
>so one is obsolete, the other inferior.

The International Maritime Community settled the 'morse issue.'
They DROPPED it in favor of GMDSS (Global Marine Distress and Safety System), a semi-automated system which can be operated by anyone of the bridge crew on a ship (it needs little instruction on use). GMDSS messages are automatically routed to ground stations (note plural) via satellite relay. Those ground stations can coordinate rescue missions.

A shipboard GMDS station doesn't HAVE to have a GPS receiver to feed it position data but all those which have one have no complaint about this alleged "loss of signal." Position data can be entered manually to a GMDS station. The bridge crew will have a running record of the ship's position in either event.

The United States Coast Guard has DROPPED continuous monitoring of the 500 KHz distress frequency some years ago. Several other countries have done so.

A following question is WHO will you believe on the efficacy of communications? The entire international maritime community or a bunch of myth-happy amateur morsemen?

In a sentient, intelligent mind, ANY form of communications is good for use in matters involving life and death. The FCC thinks (rightly) so and says as much in Part 1 of Title 47 C.F.R. [Part 97 is not the entirety of regulations on amateur radio in the USA]

It happened NINETY-FOUR YEARS AGO.

>> had existed at the time, how would things have turned out?

I have to fault Cecil's erudite and intelligent mindset on that...although his motor looks good in his picture. :-)

One CANNOT base any intelligent argument about ALTERNATE universes of different times and places. It hasn't happened in our present time-space continuum.

In 1912 "radio" was in its infancy, having been first shown and demonstrated as a communications medium just 16 years prior. There were extremely few ships which had vacuum tubes as active devices to aid those first "radios." The tube was only 6 years old, the triode invented in 1906.

To argue about "GPS" (which is not an integral part of GMDSS but can be) versus morse code is ludicrous. GPS relies on a time-frequency standard within each of the 24 GPS satellites which is comparable to the best time-frequency source at NIST. [the quartz crystal oscillator wasn't yet invented in 1912] Each satellite needs solid-state circuitry to make it function within a relatively small package. [the best "solid-state" device of 1912 was a galena crystal detector with its famous "cat's whisker"] The whole GPSS needed rocketry advanced enough to put all the satellites into orbit.
[rocketry wasn't perfected for that purpose until after WW2] Those rockets needed launch guidance aided by radar systems. [radar, or rather a primitive system of it, wasn't tried until 1932 in a harbor area of France]

However, "morse code" was used in the landline Morse-Vail Telegraph System working before the American Civil War and simple enough to turn a spark transmitter on and off as on the Titanic.

>> Which system is presently inferior and virtually obsolete?

On-off keyed CW.

Except in the mindset of the ARRL. The IARU knows better.

You have told no turth about me you make up lies like you claim I said I was indcuted into the ARMed forces by the Selective service that you can tell if I drunk from more than 1000 miles away that you can measure the feild strength at Omega One from about 100 miles away

the you have secert access to police file claiming I am redophile

Robesin is merely a product of the "incentive" licensing system where all those who hunger for being a "somebody" can get a Title - Rank - Privilege through a singular skill.

I didn't make that system, neither did you, neither did anyone in these four forums. The FCC took a big chunk out of it (license classes and morsemanship skill) with the Restructuring of 2000 and that pissed off the Title-Rank-Status seekers. Devout morsemen are angry and venting steam because their self-esteem has fallen.

>> Robeson has been all full of himself in here about his alleged
>> "USMC service" yet he has presented zero-point-zero evidence >> from anyone else (or any legitimate agency) that he ever >> served on active USMC duty for any of his claimed "18 years."

Simply amazing. EIGHTEEN years alleged on active duty and he can't supply a single photo or document to support his claim? In November of this year I can truthfully say I've been in the southern California aerospace business 50 years.
I have all sorts of documentation and photos on that which I may fully digitize some day (some are already digitized).
Some time ago I posted my resume in here...which only made Robesin ballistic then since he has NO comparable experience in industry and cannot prove any radio experience other than amateur and alleged "chief operator" status at some small MARS station long ago. [that was before his less-than-a-half-year as a purchasing agent at a small set top box maker]

In another recent post, Robesin keeps referring to a "CV."
That's an acronym for the Latin 'curriculum vitae,' a list of life experiences (education, work experience). In the electronics industry, indeed in MOST industries, those applying for jobs don't present a curriculum vitae, just a RESUME of education-work experience. Some academics may use "CV" but Personnel departments still look over resumes.

Just one more little gaffe on Robesin's part, trying to LOOK experienced when he is NOT.

>> Even though he NOW thinks of himself AS the amateur radio >> service personified (anything against him is somehow against >> ALL radio amateurs), he is still parodying the "Emperor."

Another sign of his megalomania, purporting to "represent all" and, by extension, anyone against Him is "against all radio amateurs." Robesin desperately needs SOMETHING to hold up his self-esteem and he uses amateur radio for that selfish purpose. It is like his infamous snot-on-the-moustache CAP flight suit picture, big on rank, title, and with implications of status. CAP is NOT about amateur radio but Robesin keeps on harping about it as if it "proved" something about his amateur radio abilities. He does the same with his "ER nurse qualifications" but those have absolutely nothing to do with radio, amateur or professional.

But, challenge Robesin or call him in error and one will be inundated with personal insults. Robeson MUST be right and he MUST rule. Civil comportment be damned with Robeson in newsgroups. Those newsgroups were (in his mind) created to showcase Him?

That's what DRAFTED means in the Armed Forces of the Untied States.

Mention the word "drafted" to a CIVILIAN in the context of the Armed Forces, and that's what THEY understand it to mean.

OK...We'll classify it as "enviromental protection".

Nope.

Your conduct here CLEARLY describes a very tormented, very poorly adjusted person in search of happiness and acceptance.

The PROBLEM is that y6ou have yet to come to grips with the fact that it is YOU that must adjust to the world, not the other way around.

THAT was a result of poor parenting that did not prepare you for life outside the womb, Morkie.

Sure you have. And over and over again.

It's inescapable. You keep doing it to yourself!

> You have tried but you don't know the first thing about me

I know enough to keep making a fool out of you.

I think that (A) by admitting it, (B) suggesting you're technically competent with a computer, and (C) having three college degrees that you only subject yourself to MORE humiliation...ALL THIS TECHNOLOGY at your fingertips and you thumb your nose at it...THAT makes you look moronic.

Ninety-nine percent of Lennie's post was about anythig OTHER than

The problem for YOU is that YOUR posts establish YOU as the

Nothing I say here is relative to CAP.

Sure I have.

Every time YOU have acted civilly, I have responded.

YOU turn it around.

The "truce" posts of earlier this year are clear evidence of that, Morkie. I CLEARLY stated that I was NOT the original author, but I was willing to give it a go.

I'm not a criminal.

A criminal is a person convicted of a crime.

The only time I've been in court is as a witness, complaintant, or to have my middle daughter's adoption finalized.

Mark,

I think it's best if you don't post in radio threads anymore, you don't know what you're talking about. If Todd listens to your advice he could get into even more trouble than he already is and you could be charged as an accomplise in his illegal pirate station operations. Then you won't be able to attend Stevie, Woger, and Lloyd's N9OGL NAL enema beer party, and they very much want you there to help administer the enema's.

5. No more "multiple guess" code test. One minute solid copy with lots of numbers, punctuation, and intentional misspellings

6. No more VE sessions. Re-establish testing at FCC Field offices, and train test administrators in the mold of Jules Finkelman.

7. No more pass the theory one day, the code another day. If you expect to be a ham, you should know both the same day.

8. No more transceivers. Separate receivers and transmitters, preferably with tubes, that you have to tune separately. For first year of license, crystal transmit frequency control only.

9. Fill in the World Trade Center hole, re-establish the old grid of streets, and re-establish radio row on Courtlandt Street.

"Craigie stressed that Amateur Radio needs to avoid "being dazzled by

She refers to robesin-like attitudes within the ARS.

The council of VECs has already eliminated the multiple choice test. Now it's fill in the blank or get solid copy.

Did someone drop you on your head at birth? The reason 50wpm can save lives is probably a bit complex for you to get both your functioning neurons around, but believe me, having done CW for a living for some decades I do know that it can save lives. And if you're faster than the average bear at it, you can tell someone on the scene things they need to know all that much faster.

So apparently YOUR answer to this question is that you couldn't send your name if your own life depended on it.

Believe me, I get it. I don't think CW ought to be mandatory and it isn't where I live. I do think people who intend to use it should learn how to use it properly, though. For CW to be effective, both operators must be competent. IF they are, they can often transcend barriers of language that only digital modes can get over. In my own case, the fact that I could read CW and read written Spanish a bit once enabled me to render aid to a burning fishing boat. (There were other more routine examples of where the language barrier was crossed by CW--many messages I copied were not in English at all, but were readable by their end recipients).

If it doesn't have rank or a uniform, Robesin isn't interested.

Yet as "chief operator" or ANCOIC of NMC MARS on Okinawa, he remains woefully ignorant of MARS. I just don't get it.

Robesin an academic? Not in this lifetime.

It's just his inappropriate use of what to him are important sounding words and acronyms.

Yep, im british.

I can see your point about the FCC complaints, lack of funding is the usual reason for them not to bother to go after ham violators. If they charged users then they would be able to use that money to go after the retards who clog todays airwaves...

And the flamers/trolls havent driven us all off, we just go into hiding until we see something of interest, and just ignore the rest...

indeed but you can't discuss any changes as I suspect you have ntoiced and for that matter I have never seen why we have to have all of us geting our license by the same path indeed I have always liked an idea with some folks talking a rule and safety test (and being confined to built equipment) and pay a fee while others would takerigourous test and no fees

Depending upon which of yer voids you'd like me to shove it in, of course.

I'm pretty open-minded, but I have my limits.

So basically ur saying that you should be able to either

1. Pay for your license and Take a beginner test (to prove your competent) or
2. Take a Intermediate Test and get free license after passing

If this is what you mean, then i can see your logic and i would fully support a system like this...

Only problem is that just like Slow Code and the other trolls who try to change the Ham world, we wouldnt be able to do anything either, its down to the corporations, not us little people...

Shaw Communications: CIA Front Operation

Jihad Unspun Exposed
As CIA Outfit?
Liberty Forum.org
11-23-4

Regarding http://www.jihadunspun.com --

What really struck me as odd was all the professional glitz of the website as well as its deliberate attempt to look Arabic (Notice the Koranic translations with curved font!)

From what I know of pro-jihad websites, they operate on a shoestring budget, provided they happen to find volunteers and donors who are willing to risk being deported and detained. They get kicked off from ISP to ISP and use cheap frontpage templates. Real Jihad websites try to imitate the West in web design rather than coming up with colors that seem to resemble the robes of a sand dune shape and Arabic shaped English text.One such authentic website was the one run by a well known Saudi dissident, Azzam.com. More about Azzam later.

Now getting back to Jihadunspun (JUS), the Related links tab first displayed the address of some muslim name in British Columbia Canada. So right in our backyard we have a semi Al Qaeda operation which unlike Azzam doesnt even lose its ISP, let alone get shut down.

Next, take a closer look at the website.....This is a very sophisticated operation and I am sure that even some of its own muslim reporters have no clue what is going on. But again, as the graphic on its homepage portrays Bush on one side and Binladen on the other. For an agitated muslim as well as reactionary goyim, the NWO reinforces the assertion it made on Sept.11th by bringing down those towers by "heated jet fuel ": The war of civilisations is on : Binladen after grandly bringing down the towers now seeks to further his Jihad on the West.

Secondly, unlike other genuine Jihad sites, there is not even a whisper of conspiracy regarding Sept 11th on this site. In other words,
1. The goyim must continue hunting "Al Qaeda"
2 The muslims should resume the "jihad" on the West inaugurated by Binladen.
OR IN OTHER WORDS, NWO/ JEWISH CABBAL/ ILLUMINATI /SATAN/ CIA AGENDA! Notice how the tab "The players" has only Bush Binladen and Co. whereas the Real players are simply missing.

There is also another purpose. Suppose Bush is having a real unpopular moment. Jihadunspun could furnish another lab doctored video/audio recording of Binladen urging war on Americans. This will serve to distract and at the same time emphasise the need for a war. With its Al Qaeda credentials, few would doubt the source.

Here is what I found in a Chicago Tribune article

Quote:

Some Web watchers, including Katz, believe the U.S. government may be using the Internet jihad to spy. They speculate that Jihad Unspun, an English-language site that appears to promote terror, may be a CIA creation, designed to find out who visits or orders videos glorifying bin Laden.

A lengthy notice on Jihad Unspun denies the allegations, saying the site is "a labor of love for Allah." Bruce Kennedy, identified on the site as editor in chief, said by e-mail that Jihad Unspun's operators "are not doing any interviews with American press at this time." A CIA spokesman denied the site has any connection to the agency.

Labour of love for Allah? Doesnt that sound a bit too wannabe muslim? Trust me, the muslims I know have Allah an established factor. They dont take in this "pleasing the emperor style which more depicts stereotypes of muslims.Why do I get the same feeling when I bumped into a male posing as 16/f/nyc?

Another tidbit.....a buddy of mine started liking JUS and decided to get involved on its fancy forums. Whatever got into him, the first article he posted was about How the CIA backed Saddam. Next day, he discovers he is a non-entity! no invalid pw or email notification....it simply says he is not a member ! If you guys have time, try it out. Post some hard stuff on the CIA and tell me here how long you lasted.

Here is some interesting stuff I found in the contact information under domain name lookup.
Jihad Unspun

bkennedy@jihadunspun.net

Interesting.....who is Bruce Kennedy? That would be a name I would like to keep as a handle. Well, as i have said before, some time back there was a muslim name and address in British Columbia (Canada). It seems the muslim paypal screwed it up or something so now they got this all white American convert to try explain where all the expertise and $$$ are coming from.

209.139.224.132
GT Group Telecom Services Corp. -Pacific
20 Bay Street, Suite 700
Toronto ON M5J-2N8
Canada
+1-416-848-2000
hostmaster@gt.ca
Apart from jihadunspun.com, These creatures even have $$$ to keep jihadunspun.net registered in their name on another Canadian server
24.83.123.12
Shaw Communications Inc.
Suite 800
630 - 3rd Ave. SW
CalgaryAB
T2P-4L4
Canada
ipadmin@sjrb.ca
+1-403-750-7428

Now do you suppose These Canadian Companies would be interested in hosting pro-Al Qaeda websites?

In addition, both servers are hosted through YOURGALAXY.COM which seems to be some newfangled business AGAIN in British Columbia Canadafor providing streaming video support for JUS Binladen videos! Here is what I found about YOURGALAXY.COM E-Tech Computers Inc.
#3080 - 8888 Odlin Cres.
Richmond, British Columbia V6X 3Z8
Canada
jason@gigasales.com

Boy thats a lot of $$$.....if JUS is a genuine Jihad Site, then the Saudis must be pouring in money like sand.

Now here's what happened lately.....Genuine Jihad site Azzam.com smelt something wrong in wannabe jihadi site JUS and sounded the alarm by publishing articles titled "JUS is CIA". Since Azzam is widely read, it had to be closed, or it would be the end of an expensive well orchestrated operation. For reasons unknown, Azzam.com was instantly shut down and has been offline since then.

In order to counter the damage done by Azzam.com, JUS published some damage control, which can be best described as the work of some other "Bruce

Kennedy" whose experience with Islamic Arabs is Lawrence of Arabia movies and Tintin comics. Dont be impressed by the dropping of Koranic verses and Arabic lines. You can get Pakistani muslims@ 5$ an hour to do that. I am posting the whole article just in case JUS deletes it from its website noticing clumsiness.

AND I INVITE ALL OF YOU TO TAKE A GOOD READ AND JUDGE FOR YOURSELF WHETHER "BRUCE KENNEDY" WILL PLAY A GOOD ARABIAN FEMME ONLINE OR SHOULD BE REPOSTED BACK TO THE CIA RADIO STATION IN ALASKA.

The wise observer will note that your head has been shoved up your arse and you are now attempting to describe the world as seen through the eye of your

Shaw Communications: CIA Front Operation

Jihad Unspun Exposed
As CIA Outfit?
Liberty Forum.org
11-23-4

Regarding http://www.jihadunspun.com --

This professionally managed website with eyecatching design and graphics and daily news features, video store and reporters emerged on the net sometime after Sept. 11th 2001.

What really struck me as odd was all the professional glitz of the website as well as its deliberate attempt to look Arabic (Notice the Koranic translations with curved font!)

From what I know of pro-jihad websites, they operate on a shoestring budget, provided they happen to find volunteers and donors who are willing to risk being deported and detained. They get kicked off from ISP to ISP and use cheap frontpage templates. Real Jihad websites try to imitate the West in web design rather than coming up with colors that seem to resemble the robes of a sand dune shape and Arabic shaped English text.One such authentic website was the one run by a well known Saudi dissident, Azzam.com. More about Azzam later.

Now getting back to Jihadunspun (JUS), the Related links tab first displayed the address of some muslim name in British Columbia Canada. So right in our backyard we have a semi Al Qaeda operation which unlike Azzam doesnt even lose its ISP, let alone get shut down.

Next, take a closer look at the website.....This is a very sophisticated operation and I am sure that even some of its own muslim reporters have no clue what is going on. But again, as the graphic on its homepage portrays Bush on one side and Binladen on the other. For an agitated muslim as well as reactionary goyim, the NWO reinforces the assertion it made on Sept.11th by bringing down those towers by "heated jet fuel ": The war of civilisations is on : Binladen after grandly bringing down the towers now seeks to further his Jihad on the West.

Secondly, unlike other genuine Jihad sites, there is not even a whisper of conspiracy regarding Sept 11th on this site. In other words,
1. The goyim must continue hunting "Al Qaeda"
2 The muslims should resume the "jihad" on the West inaugurated by Binladen.
OR IN OTHER WORDS, NWO/ JEWISH CABBAL/ ILLUMINATI /SATAN/ CIA AGENDA! Notice how the tab "The players" has only Bush Binladen and Co. whereas the Real players are simply missing.

There is also another purpose. Suppose Bush is having a real unpopular moment. Jihadunspun could furnish another lab doctored video/audio recording of Binladen urging war on Americans. This will serve to distract and at the same time emphasise the need for a war. With its Al Qaeda credentials, few would doubt the source.

Here is what I found in a Chicago Tribune article

Quote:

Some Web watchers, including Katz, believe the U.S. government may be using the Internet jihad to spy. They speculate that Jihad Unspun, an English-language site that appears to promote terror, may be a CIA creation, designed to find out who visits or orders videos glorifying bin Laden.

A lengthy notice on Jihad Unspun denies the allegations, saying the site is "a labor of love for Allah." Bruce Kennedy, identified on the site as editor in chief, said by e-mail that Jihad Unspun's operators "are not doing any interviews with American press at this time." A CIA spokesman denied the site has any connection to the agency.

Labour of love for Allah? Doesnt that sound a bit too wannabe muslim? Trust me, the muslims I know have Allah an established factor. They dont take in this "pleasing the emperor style which more depicts stereotypes of muslims.Why do I get the same feeling when I bumped into a male posing as 16/f/nyc?

Another tidbit.....a buddy of mine started liking JUS and decided to get involved on its fancy forums. Whatever got into him, the first article he posted was about How the CIA backed Saddam. Next day, he discovers he is a non-entity! no invalid pw or email notification....it simply says he is not a member ! If you guys have time, try it out. Post some hard stuff on the CIA and tell me here how long you lasted.

Here is some interesting stuff I found in the contact information under domain name lookup.
Jihad Unspun

Interesting.....who is Bruce Kennedy? That would be a name I would like to keep as a handle. Well, as i have said before, some time back there was a muslim name and address in British Columbia (Canada). It seems the muslim paypal screwed it up or something so now they got this all white American convert to try explain where all the expertise and $$$ are coming from.

The website is hosted by two servers, one is a rather unheard of server in NWO backyard Canada
209.139.224.132
GT Group Telecom Services Corp. -Pacific
20 Bay Street, Suite 700
Toronto ON
M5J-2N8
Canada
+1-416-848-2000
hostmaster@gt.ca
Apart from jihadunspun.com, These creatures even have $$$ to keep jihadunspun.net registered in their name on another Canadian server
24.83.123.12
Shaw Communications Inc.
Suite 800
630 - 3rd Ave. SW
CalgaryAB

Canada
ipadmin@sjrb.ca

Now do you suppose These Canadian Companies would be interested in hosting pro-Al Qaeda websites?

In addition, both servers are hosted through YOURGALAXY.COM which seems to be some newfangled business AGAIN in British Columbia Canadafor providing streaming video support for JUS Binladen videos! Here is what I found about YOURGALAXY.COM E-Tech Computers Inc.

jason@gigasales.com

Boy thats a lot of $$$.....if JUS is a genuine Jihad Site, then the Saudis must be pouring in money like sand.

Now here's what happened lately.....Genuine Jihad site Azzam.com smelt something wrong in wannabe jihadi site JUS and sounded the alarm by publishing articles titled "JUS is CIA". Since Azzam is widely read, it had to be closed, or it would be the end of an expensive well orchestrated operation. For reasons unknown, Azzam.com was instantly shut down and has been offline since then.

In order to counter the damage done by Azzam.com, JUS published some damage control, which can be best described as the work of some other "Bruce Kennedy" whose experience with Islamic Arabs is Lawrence of Arabia movies and Tintin comics. Dont be impressed by the dropping of Koranic verses and Arabic lines. You can get Pakistani muslims@ 5$ an hour to do that. I am posting the whole article just in case JUS deletes it from its website noticing clumsiness.

AND I INVITE ALL OF YOU TO TAKE A GOOD READ AND JUDGE FOR YOURSELF WHETHER "BRUCE KENNEDY" WILL PLAY A GOOD ARABIAN FEMME ONLINE OR SHOULD BE REPOSTED BACK TO THE CIA RADIO STATION IN ALASKA.

Oh. My. God. ! ! !

Tsk, just because NBC, CBS, ABC, CNN, FOX, ESPN, and PBS haven't covered the tremendously fantastic wonderfullest huge contribution to saving lives and property via ham radio? Gosh, there are all sorts of clippings from obscure weekly and biweekly newspapers dutifully cut-and-pasted into messages here from Robesin & Co.

Maybe I'll have to write the Department of Defense and say that "Major" Robesin said that radio amateurs run MARS! They should fortwith cease and desist publishing DoD Directives on thinking that they started it and keep running it!

Maybe I missed the "news" on the Home and Garden Channel...I don't watch that much...

Right and all the other radio services are switching to morse code for all emergency communications a la ham radio...the sky has truly fallen!

Give up on Robesin, Mark. He MUST remain "right" and He "must" rule. He isn't interested in civility. Once an "enemy" of his, always an enemy in his mind. Sick way to be but he is that way, repeatedly. He just proved it in the message you replied to.

He is setting the example for all hams. Not going to help the amateur ranks in getting more hams but that is not, apparently, his point. Robesin needs to come out on TOP in his own mind, be chieftan, be the warlord.

He also wants rec.radio.amateur. policy all his own to do with as he sees fit. [probably to have his daily fits in...]

Ech...

> but titles like that are Robeson stock in trade my content in his posts

Absolutely true, Mark. He tries to belittle his "enemies" so that He looks good. Problem is, it is working in reverse and he is only belittling himself.

So you won't be at a loss for words, k00k, when usenet slang is used in any threads you happen to be reading. "Cwever", "snecked", and "froups" are all usenet slang, not not-English.

Don't forget to thank me for letting you get away with calling me "kook", BTW, k00k.

Sure...Why not...

Let's just throw out the whole concept of really LEARNING...But of course this is the course that the Amateur Radio Service has been going since Bash bashed it to death.

I still say he should be dragged behind a jeep over a rocky road.

Fear not, they're being taunted too, for being Busted Urinals with no redeeming qualities. They're just not boring -- yet. You may be sure that they will ultimately win the GK as well...

> I chose your inane taunting

Fine, we(tinw) shall taunt you until you win -- then we(tinw) shall killfile you, and continue investigating the k00ks in your rec.radio.*
froups for the next several years. I imagine it'll take that long for them to win their awards -- there is much competition for them, and new k00ks appear all the time.

[Hint for whoever started the x-posts from rec.radio.*: Using AUK to do your dirty work often backfires.]

Interesting.

Also interesting is that most of the "positive press" Amateur Radio's been getting has NOT been from "...our own press clippings", but rather from third parties such as FEMA, DoD, etc.

MOST interesting here, however, is yet another example of how much Brian P Burke, N0IMD, apparently HATES the same Amateur Radio that he's a licensee of.

Strange.

Here's what you do, Brian...Pull out your FCC Form 660, write "CANCEL" across it in big, bold letters, then mail it to the FCC in Gerttysburg, PA. Then YOU will be happy and I will have a new found respect for you actually having the 'nads to back up your rhetoric with action.

You're right...It wasn't an "either / or " thing.

It was a "both"...!

I am sure it has a lot to do with your inbred deviant behaviour, coupled with an inability to effectively and efficiently interface with society.

Witness your need to move to the middle of no where where the only "companionship" you have is your shemale "spouse"...Undoubtedly yet another deviant being as ineffective at human interaction as you.

Try THINKING before you type something, then try to not patently offend everyone around you.

It would if you were more courteous in your manner and cautious with your insults.

I have no "cohorts" here, Morkie.

As I said before...that anyone else shares my opinion of you ONLY means that we share an opinion.

Hardly.

You and your "cohorts" are just yet another layer of the un-doing of the Amateur Radio Service started with the likes of Dick Bash.

> and right now I feeling fine and happy a bit impataint with the FCC

Your whole life has been about impatience, Morkie.

You want what you want, but you expect it to be given to you as a "reward" for deeds you didn't do.

Kinda like that welfare check you get each month...Money for nothing.

Geeze, Morkie...Just a couple of months ago you were bragging about how you were debt free and paid cash for everything.

Now you've yet again stepped on yuor own tale with size 12 shoes in a public forum and exposed yet ANOTHER MorkieLie.

It's everyone's fucking business, Outer Filth. You just don't get it, that's all. That's why you're co-nominated for Clueless Newbie of the Month, along with Harrington and Crackhead. You were better off as only one or two people, you know -- you want to be three, you can be three.

I think I'm the fuckhead kookologist who's been kicking your arse around usenet this month, that's who. Been telling all sorts of people that you are Outer Filth.

> Endless, pointless cross-posting to long lists of groups, disrupting > usenet for thousands of innocent people.

Your favourite classical music recordings group has been claimed in the name of Fluffy and the 2-Belo, the Emperors of MEOW. You are not welcome there.

> Usenet improves communication around the planet, and then > a bald asshole comes and tries to disrupt it, for what?

I'll have you know my hair is quite long. Usenet is primarily a medium for entertainment. Any intelligent discussion which may take place is entirely incidental to this purpose.

> What the fuck do you keep disrupting people's communications for, > asshole?

As the Secretary to the Emperors-in-absentia, I am fully empowered to "disrupt" communications for any and all purposes of MEOW, including the dispersal of news about Outer Filth to every Dominion, enclave, territory and ally of Teh Empire.

> Maybe I was annoying one asshole, you don't know why.

You explained why. He said mean and nasty things about yourself (if you were not one of those so insulted, the balsa plank on which I believed you were standing does not exist) and others in the form of limericks (which are generally supposed to be off-colour, by tradition). You and your buddies responded by becoming Outer Filth. There is no excuse, no reason, no explanation, no justification that can possibly get you off this. I strongly suggest you abandon usenet, and stick to private listservs from now on. You are clearly not up to dealing with your opponents in flamewars without resorting to cowardly measures, Outer Filth.

> You're annoying thousands, for absolutely no reason.

"Thousands"? Hmmm, well, maybe. "For no reason"? In the opinion of Outer Filth, which is about as relevant as the opinion of pond scum.

about two Boy Scouts saving an 18 month old little girl from drowning. Instead of using verbal communications, how about a parable about how those Boy Scouts could have chosen to use Morse Code?

Why? Is Amateur Radio a memory test? Make it a lifetime license and reduce the FCC's workload.

Why not 100%? Are you saying it's ok to screw up 15% of your operating?

Why should anyone be tested for code proficiency if they don't plan to use it? I can see testing for basic knowledge (dit dah = A), but why any particular speed? Should people be tested for speed talking before using voice modes?

> 4: Make the no-code license one year non-renewable.

All licenses should be no-code. Does the FCC test for speaking ability?

I don't think you have thought this through very well. Go take a nap and come back after some extended cogitating.
